Maybe This Will Help?
A Field Guide to Feeling Better
By Michelle Rial

Maybe This Will Help? is one part the funny and relatable graphs that fans of Am I Overthinking This? and Michelle Rial know and love, and one part the honest stories behind what makes those graphs so poignant. Equal parts funny and moving, this book delves into the more serious side of things, finding levity and collective experience in the invisible difficulties that so many of us face. Through humorous charts and intimate peeks into the author’s life, it explores the big things that can feel unmanageable and the everyday humor that keeps us moving forward.

TRUMPY DUMPTY WANTED A CROWN
By John Lithgow
Following the success of his New York Times bestseller Dumpty, actor, author, and illustrator John Lithgow presents Trumpy Dumpty Wanted a Crown, a new book of satirical poems chronicling the despotic age of President Donald Trump. This collection is funnier, darker, and more hard-hitting than ever. Lithgow writes and draws with wit and fury as he takes readers through another year of the Trump administration. His rollicking poems and illustrations cover Trump’s impeachment, the COVID-19 pandemic, the Black Lives Matter movement, and much more. He targets Mitch McConnell, Mike Pompeo, Bill Barr, Jared Kushner, Elaine Chao, and many others, but also includes a few heroes of the moment, such as Anthony Fauci, Nancy Pelosi, Adam Schiff, and Barack Obama. Lithgow’s new book arrives at a time when we need it most. Once again, he will make readers laugh, think, and remember some of the most defining moments in our recent history, skewering the reign of King Dumpty one stanza at a time.

HAVE YOU TRIED?
Notes on All the Things That People Say Will Make You Happy
By Madeleine Trebenski
Have you tried meditation? A 12-step skin care routine? Nature bathing? This very specific currently trending herbal supplement? McSweeney’s and New Yorker contributor Madeleine Trebenski explores the questions you receive after expressing even the slightest bit of dissatisfaction with the current state of your life in a humorous collection of stories, questionable advice, and notes on all of the things that people say will change your life.
Disclaimer: None of these suggestions will change your life, not even the exorbitantly expensive custom local artisan ceramic mug.

TRUST YOURSELF
Stop Overthinking and Channel Your Emotions for Success at Work
By Melody Wilding
Are you highly sensitive and high performing? Being attuned to your emotions, your environment, and the behavior of others can be the keys to success, but they can also lead to overthinking everything and burnout. Melody Wilding is a human behavior expert, executive coach, and regular contributor to Forbes, Business Insider, and the Atlantic. In Trust Yourself, she identifies this problem and gives this nuanced reader profile a name—“Sensitive Strivers.” Drawing on the latest research and her work with clients, she examines the intersection of sensitivity and achievement and the challenges that come along with it in the workplace, offering neuroscience-based strategies readers can use to reclaim control of their lives and reach their full potential.

HEALING THROUGH YOGA
Transform Loss into Empowerment
By Paul Denniston
Use yoga movement, breath, and sound to release pain and suffering without expectation or judgment and to reconnect to life, love, and strength. Paul Denniston is the founder of Grief Yoga, a program centered around concentrated and gentle opening and stretching of the body with a deep connection to the breath. Through meditations, clear and compassionate instruction, and informative photographs, Healing Through Yoga helps readers process their grief and use it as fuel for transformative healing. The book includes a foreword by David Kessler, coauthor of On Grief and Grieving. Denniston created the Grief Yoga program with Kessler and tours with it worldwide.

DESTINATION WELLNESS
Global Secrets for Better Living Wherever You Are
By Annie Daly
Health and travel journalist Annie Daly combines on-the-ground reporting and personal narrative to explore philosophies and practices for better living around the globe, as an antidote to an often toxic wellness industry. She travels to Jamaica, Brazil, Japan, India, Norway, and Hawaii to learn why their inhabitants are so much healthier and happier, and what we can learn from them. While these traditions may appear to have little in common, their roots provide an essential truth: Living well isn’t a trend or a competition, and it certainly isn’t something you can buy.

WILD RITUALS
10 Lessons Animals Can Teach Us about Connection, Community, and Ourselves
By Caitlin O’Connell
Photographs by Caitlin O’Connell and Timothy Rodwell
Stanford behavioral ecologist and world-renowned elephant scientist Caitlin O’Connell has spent more than 30 years studying animals in the wild. With fascinating stories and full-color photography, O’Connell reveals 10 lost rituals from the animal kingdom that teach us how to be more connected to ourselves, nature, and others. Through her expeditions in the Caribbean and the African savannah, this award-winning author immerses us in the cultures of elephants, apes, zebras, rhinos, lions, whales, flamingos, and other animals. The result is a captivating look at just how similar we are to these wild creatures and how we can reclaim our innate ability to connect for a more meaningful life.
SPIKE LEE
By Spike Lee

This is the ultimate career retrospective on the bold, provocative work and life of revered director Spike Lee. This first-ever comprehensive monograph on Lee’s prolific work in film, television, and commercials—from his 1989 masterpiece Do the Right Thing to his recent Oscar-winning BlacKkKlansman—this book is dense with incredible photographs, film stills, and more. Additionally, this one-of-a-kind monograph is interspersed with interviews and quotes by some of Lee’s inner circle of famous friends from the realms of entertainment, sports, music, and politics. Memorabilia, personal photos, writing, and more reveal a very personal journey through the remarkable life and career of one of the most esteemed and influential filmmakers of our time.

OLD SCHOOL PHOTOGRAPHY
100 Things You Must Know to Take Fantastic Film Photos
By Kai Wong

Old School Photography is a how-to manual for taking photographs with 35-millimeter and medium-format film cameras. Through writing, diagrams, and photographic examples, author Kai Wong explains all you need to know about owning and using the best film cameras available in the world. Like the resurgence of vinyl records, there is a huge renewed interest among camera and photography enthusiasts in collecting and using vintage film cameras. In fact, film manufacturers have started re-releasing out-of-print film stock—Kodak just re-released their beloved Ektachrome film in 2019. Old-school photography is new to many young photographers, and many of them are looking back at classic techniques with renewed creative interest. Unlike with digital photography, in film-based photography there is a sense of craft, skill, patience, technical knowledge, and a trial-and-error process that results in a greater sense of accomplishment.

Softcover with flaps, $19.95, 152 x 229 mm, 224 pages, 100 full-color and black-and-white photographs, Spring 2021

A LIBRARY OF MISREMEMBERED BOOKS
By Marina Luz
How to find a book when you can’t recall its title or its author?
 Inspired by this common reader’s dilemma, artist Marina Luz creates paintings of book covers based on the descriptions we use when we can’t remember their titles—mining internet book-search forums for the quirky and hilarious language we come up with in these moments. This petite volume gathers together dozens of these imaginary, mis-remembered books, from Cat, Possibly Named Henry to Popular Girls Who Shoplift to Something Something, Beverly Hills. A tribute to the indelible impression books leave on our souls, if not necessarily on our memories, this book is a charming gift for bibliophiles.
 Hardcover, $12.95, 114 x 152 mm, 96 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, Fall 2021

THE ILLUSTRATED ENCYCLOPEDIA OF NATURE

BLACK WEST
Photographs and Stories of Contemporary Black Cowboys
By Gabriela Hasbun

The Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo honors the accomplishments of Black cowboys, educating audiences about their role in American history and celebrating the vibrant community keeping that legacy alive today. Gabriela Hasbun has spent more than a decade photographing the cowboys and cowgirls at this beloved event. Hasbun’s images capture the joy and excitement of the performers, showcasing their daring feats and dazzling costumes. In addition to Hasbun’s photographs, this book features a foreword from the regional director of the rodeo, a personal essay by a woman who grew up around three generations of Black cowboys, and quotes from the riders themselves.

TALKING TO THE MOON [working title] AND OTHER EXISTENTIAL CRISSES
By Sonia Lazo

Sonia Lazo, author of Witch, Please!, is back with a new illustrated book that captures the pervasive angst of her generation with humor and heart. Lazo’s multipanel comics explore the trials and tribulations of the creative introvert, tackling themes such as isolation, friendship, self-doubt, imposter syndrome, love, heartbreak, emotional baggage, art, and more. Crafting scenes that are intimate yet relatable, Lazo brings her colorful, self-deprecating, tongue-in-cheek style to this comically tragic exploration of the existential crises of early adulthood.
