THE ART AND CREATION OF THE DISNEY PRINCESS
From Snow White to Moana
By Charles Solomon

The most important ingredient in the magic of a Disney fairytale is the princess. A Disney princess is the heroine of her own story, and her character often embodies the journey she undertakes. The Art of the Disney Princess takes the reader on a journey of their own, through the visual development of the twelve iconic Disney princesses from Snow White to Moana, exploring how period details of each film’s setting informed character design and animation style, how character traits were crafted to express elements of a princess’ personality (such as Merida’s hair or Pocahontas’ movements), and how Disney’s own history continued to shape the notion of who a Disney princess is, and how she inspires each new generation to pursue their dreams. With over 200 colorful images from the Disney archive, this deluxe hardcover has the same storybook quality as the Disney fairytales themselves, just waiting to be opened to reveal the magic within.

Jacketed hardcover, $50.00 US, 20 x 25 cm, 240 pages, 30,000 words, full-color images throughout, foil stamping, ribbon marker, shrink-wrapped, Fall 2020

PUSSWEEK
A Cat’s Guide to Feline Empowerment
By Bexy McFly

Based on the popular magazine of the same name, Pussweek is a parody of fashion and celebrity gossip rags written by cats, for cats. Author Bexy McFly fills this clever and edgy guide to feline empowerment with priceless photos of cats in all their goof and splendor, and presents scandalous pawparazzi pics, tell-tail interviews, litterbox quizzes, and other strictly feline-forward content. Pussweek exonerates the empowerment that lies within every respectable cat who’s sick and tired of being treated like an inferior species.

The snail is not naive. It knows that danger lurks out there in the form of toddlers in search of pets, gardeners protecting their plants, and unseeing boots. Its environment is not benign; while there is much predictable beauty and abundance, there is also unexpected hardship and lack.

The snail’s shell is an ingenious adaptation to this reality: It is always prepared. Plan for the worst—while aiming for the best.
The Art of Ramona Quimby

By Anna Katz, with essays by Jacqueline Rogers and TK

Since the first Ramona Quimby book debuted in 1955, Beverly Cleary’s bestselling children’s series has sold over 50 million copies. It has also featured the art of five different illustrators: Louis Darling, Joanne Scribner, Alan Tiegreen, Tracy Dockray, and Jacqueline Rogers. Each artist brought Ramona to life for a different generation of readers. The Art of Ramona Quimby explores the visual evolution of this beloved character through the art that has made her timeless. Featuring essays from prominent figures, including one of Ramona’s illustrators, along with excerpts, extended captions, and intriguing art juxtapositions, this volume is a meaningful gift and special keepsake for fans of any age.

FINDING THE BLACK LEOPARD
By Will Burrard-Lucas

This book combines compelling narrative and captivating images to tell the story of how British photographer Will Burrard-Lucas captured the first high quality photographs of the elusive black leopard in Kenya in 2019. His story begins during his childhood in Tanzania, where he fell in love with wildlife photography. He recounts his creation of a remote-controlled camera (the BeetleCam) and a sophisticated camera trap, which allow him to photograph animals with unprecedented intimacy and drama. Burrard-Lucas's engaging prose is paired with his stunning images not only of the leopard, but also of elephants, lions, and more iconic animals. This is an enthralling read for anyone who loves nature, big cats, photography, or adventure.

FOUR WORD THINKING

By Sylvain Plante and Joe Slack

Four Word Thinking is a fast-paced, simultaneous word creation game for 2-6 players, with each round lasting only a few minutes. In this spelling frenzy, players use hexagonal tiles with two-letter combinations on each side to spell four-letter words on the common board as quickly as possible. Each new word changes the board, and players must rely on their quick wits to react to missed chances and new opportunities. The first player to spell twelve four-letter words wins the round.

Box with lift-off lid, $16.95 US, 14 x 19 x 4.5 cm, 54 hexagonal tiles, 72 cubes, 13 victory tokens, Fall 2020

THE LIVING INFINITE

By Dylan Birtolo

The Living Infinite is a social prediction game in which scientists stranded on the ocean floor desperately try to repair their broken submarine, all while being hunted by deep sea predators. Out of the 2-6 players, 1-2 play as sea monsters, while the rest play as scientists, who must venture out into the monsters’ territory to harvest the resources they need to repair their ship and return to the surface before they run out of oxygen. With rules for competitive or cooperative play among the scientists, as well as conflicting goals and rapid choices to make, The Living Infinite is a thrilling undersea adventure for all ages.

Box with lift-off lid, $29.95 US, 14 x 20 x 20 cm, 6 player pawns, 20 plastic/metal token, 26 paper-over-board tokens, 20 cards, fabric board, wooden submarine-shaped puzzle, Fall 2020

ALWAYS A SONG
Singers, Songwriters, Sinners and Saints
By Ellen Harper, Introduction by Ben Harper

Through the lens of folk matriarch and mother to Grammy-winning musician Ben Harper, singer and songwriter Ellen Harper shares vivid stories of growing up in Los Angeles in the 60s among famous and small-town musicians, raising Ben, and the historic Folk Music Center. In a time when rent was only $35 per month, Ellen Harper’s parents opened up the first music store in California, the Folk Music Center and The Golden Ring, one of the earliest venues for folk music in the Southern California area, becoming a stage for revered musicians and singers like Gary Davis, Brownie McGhee and Sonny Terry, Doc Watson, Hedy West, John Fahey, The New Lost City Ramblers, Guy and Candy Carawan, and many more.

DESTINATION WELLNESS
By Annie Daly

Health and travel journalist Daly combines on-the-ground reporting and personal narrative to explore off-the-beaten-path philosophies and practices for better living around the globe, as an antidote to America’s toxic wellness industry. She will travel to Jamaica, Brazil, Japan, India, Norway, and Hawaii to learn why their inhabitants are so much healthier and happier, and what we can learn from them. While these traditions may appear to have little in common, their roots provide an essential truth: living well isn’t a trend—or a competition—and it certainly isn’t something you can buy. Daly writes regularly for SELF, Conde Nast Traveler, Travel + Leisure, Bon Appetit’s Healthyish, and BuzzFeed.

SCARRED
The True Story of How I Escaped NXIVM, the Cult that Bound My Life
By Sarah Edmondson and Kristine Gasbarre

A shocking and subversive memoir of Sarah Edmondson’s recruitment into the self-empowerment cult NXIVM, the twelve years within the organization where she enrolled more than 2,000 members, her breaking point, exit, and evolution into whistleblower and key witness in the federal case against its founders. Complete with personal photographs, Scarred is an eye-opening true story of abuse, escape, and redemption that also explores the role female friendships play in cults, and how sometimes the search to be “better” can override everything else.

HOW TO WRITE A STORY
By Kate Messner, Illustrated by Mark Siegel

Step 1: Choose an idea. You can write about something you love (Horses! Ice Skating! Soccer!) . . . or something that scares you (Monsters! Tornadoes! Ghosts!) . . . Don't worry if not all your ideas work—sometimes you have to collect a lot to figure out which one works best. And before you know it, you'll be on to Step 2! Kate Messner and Mark Siegel brilliantly chronicle the process of becoming a writer, from choosing an idea and finding a friend with whom to share it, giving your story time to blossom and grow, and—finally—coming to The End. How to Write a Story playfully and movingly illustrates the idea that the writer who discovers the love of storytelling finds, at the end, the beginning.

NEIGHBORS
By Kasya Denisevich

If you live in an apartment building, and you stop to think about it . . . your ceiling is someone’s floor, and your floor is someone’s ceiling! Neighbors are all around you. Do you ever wonder what they’re like?

This moving picture book by debut author-illustrator Kasya Denisevich explores the ways we think about the neighbors we exist among, but who remain strangers until we make the brave—and powerful—decision to connect. After all, that connection and curiosity is a portal to a world of possibility.

Jacketed hardcover, $17.99 US, 23 x 28 cm, 44 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, ages 5-8, 200 words, Fall 2020

NIA AND THE NEW FREE LIBRARY
By Ian Lendler, Illustrated by Mark Pett

For as long as anyone could remember, the Littletown Library stood there. It was there so long that people stopped paying attention to it . . . until one day, a tornado came and carried the whole thing away. What should be done with the space where the library used to be? The builder wants a new skyscraper. The grocer wants a new parking lot. Nia wants a new library . . . but how can one person build a whole library? Readers of all ages will love this clever twist on a classic folktale—about the joy of books, the power of community, and the way even the biggest things can start with almost nothing at all.

Jacketed hardcover, $17.99 US, 30 x 24 cm, 48 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, ages 3-5, 1,286 words, Fall 2020

ON ACCOUNT OF THE GUM
By Adam Rex

In this witty and unexpected book about gum stuck in hair, one determined and dry narrator makes increasingly futile efforts to get it out. From word-of-mouth advice to Internet research that ranges from scissors to butter to rabbits, every solution proves vain until help arrives in the most unexpected way. The serious humor that results from this deceptively simple text’s cumulative build-up and unexpected turns—and its subtle rhyme and wacky suggestions—make it prime for constant giggles and repeat reading.

Jacketed hardcover, $17.99 US, 25 x 24 cm, 48 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, ages 5-8, 520 words, Fall 2020,

ON WINGS OF WORDS
The Extraordinary Life of Emily Dickinson
By Jennifer Berne, Illustrated by Becca Stadtlander

In a small New England town lives a girl in love with small things—a flower petal, a bird, a ray of light, a word. But in those small things her brilliant imagination can see the wide world, and in her words she takes wing. From that vivid mind will one day come poetry that will touch the lives of millions and give readers everywhere a doorway into their own secret souls and a window from which to fly. Emily Dickinson, who famously wrote Hope is the thing with feathers that perches in the soul, is brought to life in this moving story of her courage, her faith, and her gift to the world.

Jacketed hardcover, $18.99 US, 25 x 24 cm, 52 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, ages 5–8, 1,900 words, February 2020,

OVER AND UNDER THE RAINFOREST
By Kate Messner, Illustrated by Christopher Silas Neal

Under the canopy of the rainforest, hundreds of animals make their homes—from the slender parrot snake to the blue morpho butterfly. But up in the leaves hides another world, where toucans and pale-billed woodpeckers chatter and call, capuchin monkeys swing from vines, and slow-moving sloths wait out daily thunderstorms. Discover the wonder that lies hidden among the roots, above the winding rivers, and under the emerald leaves of the rainforest.

OVER THE MOON
By James Proimos, Illustrated by Zoey Abbott

When two wolves see a baby floating down a river, what do they do? Why, they take the baby home. Over the moon with joy, they nourish and teach her. And when that baby grows into a child, she and the wolves know that she will be ready to make her way in the world. Because when a child is loved, she has everything she needs. This gently humorous story shows that families come in many forms, and that love is about both holding on and letting go.

Jacketed hardcover, $17.99 US, 20 x 25.5 cm, 44 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, ages 3-5, 408 words, March 2020

RAIN BOY
By Dylan Glynn

Wherever he goes, Rain Boy brings wet—which means he's not very popular. Sun Kidd brings sunshine everywhere she goes, so everyone loves her. Only Sun Kidd sees what's special about Rain Boy. But when she invites him to her birthday party, disaster strikes, and Rain Boy storms. Now the world is nothing but rain. Will the other kids ever love Rain Boy for being himself? And more importantly, can Rain Boy learn to love his rain? Debut author and illustrator Dylan Glynn's rich and evocative illustrations color this story with all the emotions of the rainbow in this universal story of isolation, individuality, and self-love.

UNSTOPPABLE
By Adam Rex, Illustrated by Laura Park

When a bird narrowly escapes the clutches of a hungry cat, a nearby crab admires his graceful, carefree ability to fly. But it turns out the bird has always wished he had claws like a crab. With that, they team up. They recruit a turtle for swimming and pretty soon, the team has expanded to include everyone who’s ever wanted someone else’s special trait. With claws, wings, and Congress working together, the whole country can be truly UNSTOPPABLE.

WE BECAME JAGUARS
By Dave Eggers, Illustrated by Woodrow White

This is a strange, exciting, beautiful, and oddly touching picture book straight from the unique mind of Dave Eggers. When Grandma comes to visit and the parents leave, the rules of the house—and life—change. The narrator and their grandma really do become jaguars. They walk through the woods, leap into trees, and run through a lake; Grandma even catches a rabbit and eats it. After a day in a life of true freedom, the ending will leave you questioning what’s real and what’s make-believe. This vivid celebration of the imagination is a testament to the power of love to leave you forever altered.
