PLACES TO GO, THINGS TO SEE

LITTLE IT

It bags are undoubtedly it, but they are not very tourist-attraction friendly: altogether too heavy and cumbersome. Next time you are planning a spot of sightseeing in Paris or an expedition through the souks of Marrakech consider Cartier's very chic and very petite Marcello de Cartier Pouch, $930, which can accommodate credit cards, loose change, maps and lip gloss while staying safely anchored to your arm via a wrist strap.

READING ...

Three new books to suit all tastes: in COOKING AT HOME (Lantern, $55), Karen Martini puts together inspiring recipes for inundated cooks; FEAST BAZAAR (Murdoch Books, $39.95) is a travel journey through the fragrant cuisines of India, Morocco and Syria by chef Barry Véra; and TREE TO TABLE by Patrice Newell (Penguin, $60) tracks the culinary journey of the olives the author grows in the Hunter Valley, New South Wales.

Beauty essentials? "I always pack Estée Lauder Re-Nutriv Sun Supreme Lip Balm and a hydrating moisturiser; and when I arrive at any destination I have a hot bath and apply Hydra Complete Gel Mask – it's fantastic after a long flight. For my lips, I carry Pure Colour Gloss in Quartz at all times, along with my bronzer, which is essential for a lovely, healthy glow. On holidays, I cover my kids in Clinique sunscreen; it's imperative to look after children's skin from an early age."

Suitcase essentials? "Every woman should pack a pair of dark jeans – they're classic and incredibly versatile – plus a great pair of black heels. I also like Elizabeth Hurley Beach, Marc Jacobs sunglasses and Eres swimwear." Favourite spa?

"While I enjoy massages, I just don't have time for spa experiences; when I'm not working, I'm with my kids. But I do love the manicures and pedicures at Kenneth Salon in New York."

Favourite hotel? "I love a great hotel and just being looked after, even if it's something as simple as ordering a pizza from room service. In Los Angeles, I always stay at The Beverly Hills Hotel; in New York, The Carlyle; and in London, Claridge's. The Little Nell in Aspen is gorgeous, too, and has amazing service."
