Ample foot access to resin and deep bucket for magnesia

Competition Ready

Supporting Athletes Best Performances

Eleiko's new magnesia container's tapered cylindrical shape gives the piece a modern clean aesthetic aligned with the rest of the redesigned competition collection. A fresh take on our magnesia container, the updated shape and dark grey powder coat finish is an unobtrusive addition to the competition stage. Resin is placed in the base of the magnesia container giving athletes who wanted added grip and tracing easy access to the resin before they take to the platform. The size and tapered shape of the container's opening allow for ample access. The containers can also be customized with logos.
