Passion may be an understatement

How else would I describe my three decades of involvement in American custom motorcycles and muscle cars? Even from my beginnings as a mechanic, I have always been energized by good design.

Progressively over the years, I am grateful to have had the opportunity to personally have built dozens of custom motorcycles.

During this time I have been fortunate enough to be invited to, compete and do well in several motorcycle shows and competitions all over Europe, Asia and the United States.

With this experience, and having witnessed detail and craftsmanship at its finest, I am continually inspired to push the art form. My team and I do so by striving to only bring you world class motorcycle parts.

Details Create Style - this is something we believe in at Ken's Factory.
