

CAP Web Developer

Classical Academic Press (CAP) is in search of a full time Web Developer with 3 or more years of experience. CAP is a faith-based owned and operated company. It is a fast-growing publisher of curricula and media classical schools, Christian schools, classical home schools and classical charter schools. The company is located in Camp Hill, PA, has fifteen full-time employees and works with scores of contracted, free-lance professionals such as authors, illustrators, and editors. For twenty years, CAP has brought award-winning, creative products to the marketplace and has continued to show strong growth year after year. CAP now seeks a full time Web Developer to help continue this trend.

CAP is looking to add a web developer to help analyze, maintain, and build customer-facing online services and sites. Responsibilities for this role will include coding, testing, debugging, documenting processes, and leading new projects. Working on a small dynamic team, you will have the ability to speak directly into product decisions and make an impact on the future of classical education!

The Web Developer reports to CAP's Sr. Web Developer and will also work alongside various Classical Academic Press team members within the sales and marketing department, as well as the design, systems integrations and operations departments.
