PROUD TO BE UNIQUE!

Proud to be unique! Every product in this special edition has a slight colour variation. So you will NOT GET PRECISELY like in the product pictures. Here's why:

All Tulisan serigraphy is hand-pulled using plant-based pigments that are environmentally friendly with OEKO-TEX® certification. Due to the characteristics of these organic pigments and the manual process, the colour impressions are expected to be irregular and varied. In addition, the high temperature applied for curing these serigraphs synthesises some colours to be darker or lighter depending on the pressures and pigment characteristics.

Particularly in this Night Queen edition, the faint yellow ochre colour converts towards an amber-like reddish tone in unexpected areas depending on the heat contact and pressure during the curing process. The result produces a water-colour gradation effect of this yellow tint. Combined with the deep Nero-jet ink, it creates a beautiful simmering appearance of the floral illustration. If you are particular about colour variation, we advise that you visit our boutiques to see the products in person.

Queen of the Night, a. k. a. Wijaya Kusuma (in Indonesian) is a dramatic night-blooming cactus. It blooms once a year, only overnight. This anomaly performance is extraordinary, as expected from plants that consume all reproductive energy in a short amount of time. Shining pure white like the moon, the flowers are large and profoundly fragrant in their blooming night. Indonesians believe caring for this plant brings luck and virtue to our lives.

The Night Queen has an intimate connection with the royal family of the Majapahit kingdom. The legend stated that every new king-to-be must handpick the blooming flower to be worthy of the throne.
