

Functional Nutrition For Dysphagia

Support dysphagia therapy and nutrition with the first clinically proven, rapid dissolving solid to purée.

Patients with dysphagia are at a higher risk for disease associated malnutrition. A major underlying reason is reduced intake because of dissatisfaction with soft textures. Savorease Crispy Melts provide an enjoyable crispy dissolvable texture for all modified diets.

- 130 calories, 3 g of protein and 11 g of unsaturated fats in each serving
- Positive memory evoking flavors
- Improved sensory perception for ageusia and anosmia
- Easier self feeding and grazing all day if desired
- Minimal saliva required to dissolve
- Comfortable and easy PO intake
- Allows for slower eating pace

As a functional food, Crispy Melts provide an oral exercise to support texture advancement goals. The higher the texture on discharge, the lower the risk of malnutrition.

Therapists may decide to:

- Utilize to support rehabilitation of physiologic impairments in the oral, pharyngeal and esophageal phase
- Make recommendation to include in purée, minced and moist, and soft and bite sized textured diets
- Use in swallow assessments

To optimize benefit

- Use in dysphagia therapy and in meals
- Serve 1-2 times daily with meal or between main meals
- Encourage to eat in one sitting or reseal bag between use
- Stock in nutrition room or kitchen
- Offer flavor variety to increase choice and improve food enjoyment
