CHAPTER 10 – “ELECTROMAGNETIC FREQUENCIES”

Electromagnetic Radiation (EMR) has got to be one of the most misunderstood, yet most dangerous, threats to our health of all time. Most people think of radiation only in terms of X-rays and nuclear disasters, yet radiation exists in many other forms – natural and man-made.

I have spent a great deal of time looking at what people can do to minimise their risk factors for exposure to EMFs because, let's face it, electricity is not going away. The following option, I believe, is worthwhile.

A means of dealing with EMFs is called a Geoclense®. The Geoclense® is a solid-state negative charge generator that balances the positive charge – the noxious unhealthy energy that is naturally created when there is current passing through the electrical circuit – otherwise known as Electromagnetic Radiation (EMR) or dirty electricity. The Geoclense® also harmonizes all noxious energies emitted from appliances connected to the harmonized circuit. Earth Radiation causing Geopathic Stress is also completely harmonized within the building with the Geoclense® operating.

With the Geoclense® operating, the stress that was put on the nervous system by the positive charge component of EMR and other sources of noxious energy is removed. Within an instant the space feels lighter and clearer and the well-being of the people restored, creating a healthier and happier home or office environment.

I have been so impressed with the benefits I have experienced from the Geoclense® and the feedback I have received from others.
