Preface and Acknowledgements

This anthology is the outcome of both an international conference and a cooperative research project held at the Institute for Research in Humanities of Kyoto University. The conference was held on December 5 and 6, 2008, as the 12th Kyoto University International Symposium, ‘Transforming Racial Images: Analyses of Representations.’ Troy Duster and Ella Habiba Shohat gave keynote lectures at the event, and most of the remaining contributors to this volume either presented a paper or served as a commentator. The symposium was followed by a closed seminar on December 7. The conference was funded by Kyoto University and the Kyoto University Foundation.

The cooperative research project, ‘An Interdisciplinary Study of Representations and Expressions of Race,’ continued for four years until the spring of 2010, when it was superseded by a new five-year project, ‘A Japan-based Global Study of Racial Representations’ (<http://race.zinbun.kyoto-u.ac.jp/?lang=en>). We gratefully acknowledge financial support from the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science for these two projects, a Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (A) and a Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (S), respectively. Finally, the publication of this book was facilitated by a Grant-in-Aid for the Publication of Scientific Research Results bestowed by the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science (JSPS).

We owe special thanks to President Hiroshi Matsumoto and then Vice President Toshio Yokoyama of Kyoto University for supporting the conference in many ways, and extend our gratitude to all the other participants of the conference for contributing to the stimulating discussions. The two funded projects represent long-term cooperative studies on race and racial representation among colleagues committed to conducting this interdisciplinary and international collaborative engagement on race and racial representation. The conference and the projects would not have been possible without the assistance of researchers for the projects Sachiko Kotani Kawakami, Atsuko Kobayashi Tanaka, Akira Kinoshita, and former colleague Tatsuya Fujihara. I also would like to thank Chiori Goto, Yuka Kanno, and Noriko Watanabe, researchers who have joined the new project and provided outstanding research assistance in editing, checking galleys, and forming the index. I am also grateful to Itaru Saito and other editors of Kyoto University Press and Trans Pacific Press for their professional editorial work.
