

The image shows the interior of a modern vegetarian cafe. The space is bright and airy, with a light-colored concrete floor and walls. In the foreground, there's a large, curved wooden table. The middle ground features several small white square tables with light-colored wooden chairs. A long wooden bench runs along the back wall. The back wall has a large, light-colored mural with the cafe's name and establishment year. To the right, there's a counter area with a white top and a brick base, and a blue metal shelving unit with plants. The overall aesthetic is clean, minimalist, and natural.
