RABBIT
BOOKS

SNAP!

BLACK!
RABBIT

Black Rabbit Books is on a mission to get kids to fall tail-over-ears in love with reading. Our brands entice reluctant readers into devouring books. We're not afraid to be a little zany, a little wild, and a whole lot of fun.

Convincing kids to put down the screens and pick up books? Magic, right? You might say we pulled a rabbit out of a hat with this one.

Holiday Crafter

For Kids Grades 3-6

Ghoulish garland. Rocket ring toss. Cupid catapults. Liven up the holidays with DIY crafts, games, and party prep! From birthday crowns to Halloween string art, kids ages 8 and up will find awesome crafts that will make the perfect celebration for friends and family. Show readers how easy and fun crafting can be through simple instructions delivered with a colorful design. Detailed lists keep readers prepared while follow-up questions inspire them to add their own personal touches.

Outta-This-World Thank You

The party is over, but the fun isn't! End the bash with a bang with these rockin' party favors.

SUPPLIES

1 empty toilet paper roll
1 sheet each of blue, light blue,
and orange paper
16oz
red, orange, and yellow markers
spray bottle with water
3 coffee filters
scissors glue clear tape rope cookie sheet

STEPS

1. Color the coffee filters with the markers.
2. Lay the filters on the cookie sheet. Lightly spray with water until the colors bleed together. Let them dry.
3. Wrap the blue paper around the toilet paper roll. Cut it to size and glue it on.
4. Cut two triangles out of the light blue paper. Glue one to each side of the rocket near the bottom.
5. Cut three small circles out of the tin foil. Glue them on the rocket.
6. Cut a 4-inch (10-cm) wide circle out of the orange paper.

NFL at a Glance

For Kids Grades 3-6

The NFL at a Glance series is bursting with information, bright photos, and creative layouts that highlight the most popular sport in the United States. Time-honored traditions, legends of the game, and amazing trivia are just some of the valuable information the series provides. Each book features a different topic, explored through six jam-packed chapters that teach readers all about the NFL.

The Minnesota Vikings almost didn't make the 1987 playoffs. They played the New Orleans Saints in the first round. The Vikings beat the Saints 44-16. The Saints were out of the playoffs.

No one thought the Vikings would keep winning. They had to play the San Francisco 49ers. The 49ers were one of the best teams in the NFL, but the Vikings were ready. The 49ers couldn't keep up with them. The Vikings won. They had pulled off two huge playoff upsets.

Did you know?
The Vikings made it to the 1987 Conference Championship. They lost to the Washington Commanders.

Missiles Threaten US Cities

John F. Kennedy went on television on October 22, 1962. He wanted to talk to the American people. He needed to tell them about the missiles. Kennedy often went on TV. He talked with reporters. He also did many interviews. This time was different. Kennedy did not talk to a reporter. He talked directly to the American people.

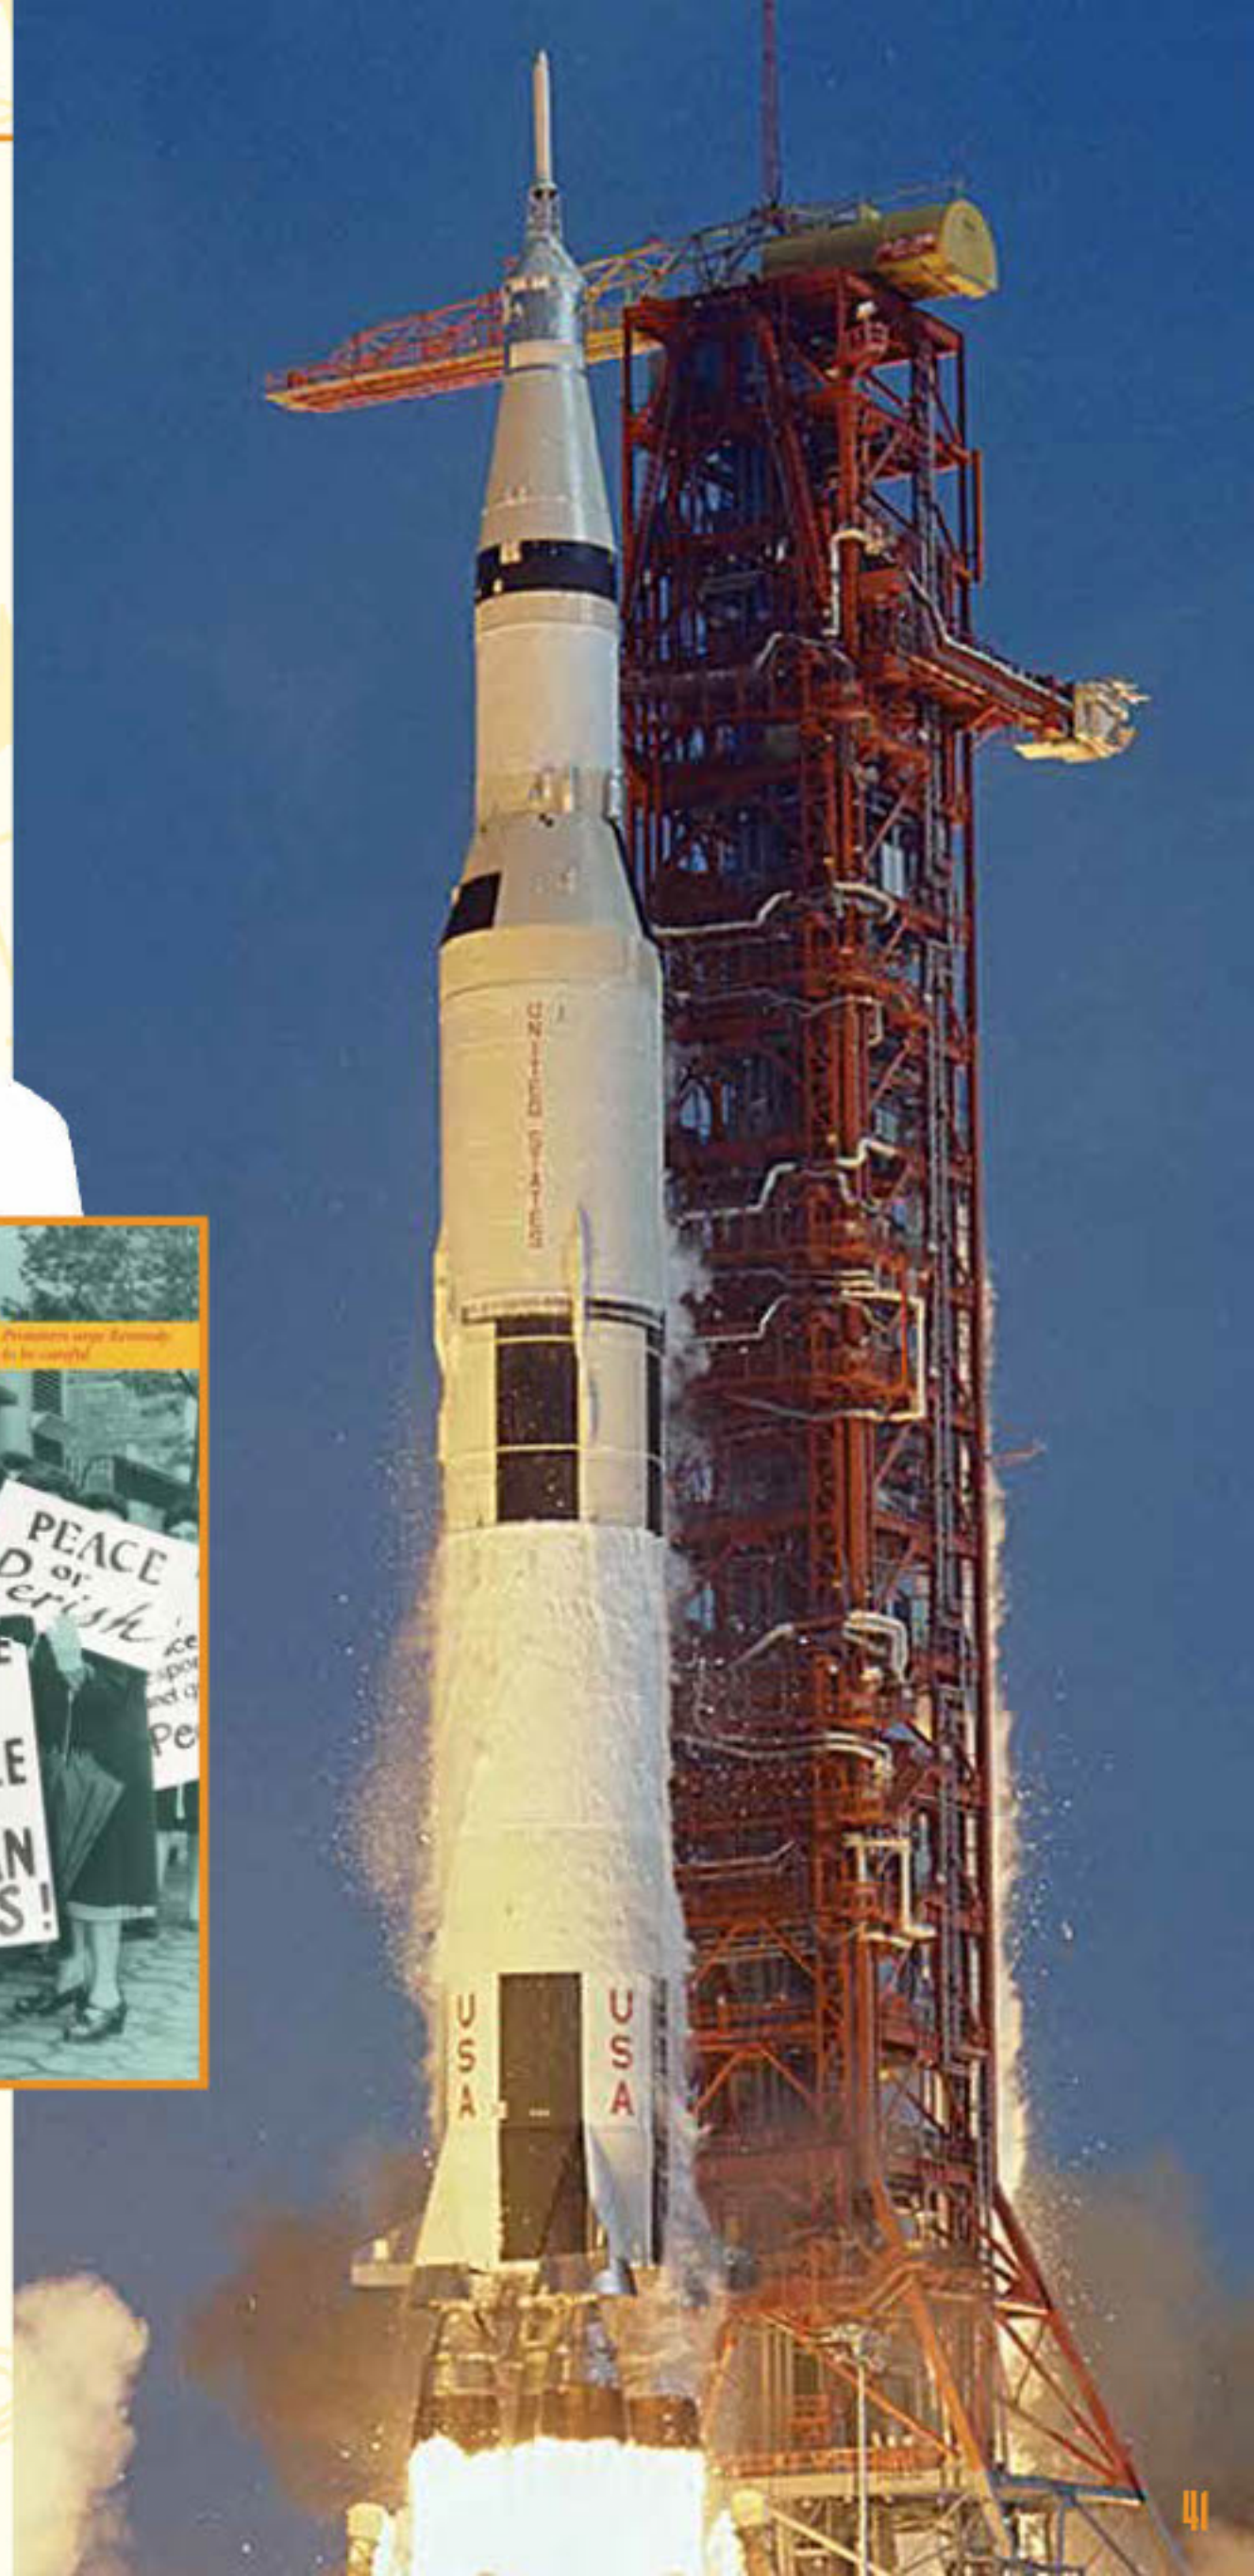

Kennedy spoke about the crisis on national television.

Kennedy spoke about the missiles. He said they were in Cuba. They were just there by the Soviet Union. The missiles were very close. They could hit the Panama Canal. They could hit Florida. He said they could even hit Washington, DC. There

The background of the entire page is a vibrant starburst pattern. It consists of numerous thin, dark blue lines radiating from a central point, creating a sunburst effect. These lines are set against a bright green background. Scattered throughout the green background are small, five-pointed yellow stars. Interspersed among the starburst lines are several stylized, dark blue raised fists, each with a white outline, symbolizing strength and rebellion.

REBEL GiRLS®

Rebel Girls

For Kids Grades 4-6

Inspire and empower girls to dream big with stories of real-life extraordinary women from all around the world. Each book features 25 stories of women and girls who have dazzled the world with their leadership skills, athleticism, love for the environment, and success in business. Make the world a better, more inclusive place with influential leaders Malala Yousafzai and Lady Gaga. Bring your A-game with champions Serena Williams and Sky Brown. Celebrate the power of sisterhood and teamwork with mother-daughter duos Beyoncé and Blue Ivy Carter and Marie Curie and Irène Joliot-Curie. Fight for the planet with climate warriors Greta Thunberg and Autumn Peltier, and dream up clever new businesses with entrepreneurs Rihanna and Mikaila Ulmer.

"Rebel Girl books belong in school libraries and on the bookshelves in girls' bedrooms wherever that bedroom maybe."
—Children's Literature

The one-page, mini biographies are paired with portraits created by female and nonbinary artists from all around the world. Includes bonus activities and scannable codes that link to audio stories.

STACY BROWN-PHIPOT

BUSINESS EXECUTIVE

When Stacy and her brother were little, they set up their own newspaper delivery service in Detroit, Michigan. Together, they convinced some neighbors to buy the paper from them instead of getting it at the store. Her brother always delivered the papers on time. And, since they made money by charging a delivery fee, 11-year-old Stacy went out to collect payments whether the sun was shining or the temperatures were below freezing. Her mom worked tirelessly to take care of the family, and Stacy followed her example.

After college, Stacy took a job at a huge tech company. She enjoyed it, but when she glanced around, she saw few people who looked like her. So she started a program to recruit more employees from historically Black colleges and universities. She wanted to make it easier for more young Black women and men to pursue careers in high-paying fields.

Stacy then joined a startup called TaskRabbit. The company specializes in matching workers to quick jobs. The workers, or "taskers," do things like run errands for their clients or help them around the house.

Three years later, in 2016, Stacy became the CEO—one of the only Black female CEOs in the tech industry. She made sure that all employees, including herself, worked as taskers. Stacy once spent the day with someone who had no idea the person scrubbing their oven was the company's CEO!

With Stacy in charge, TaskRabbit expanded to thousands of cities. Ready for another adventure, she later teamed up with two other investors to create a fund to support Black, Latinx, and Native American founders.
