Product Description —

For playgrounds in public areas or school grounds that have the space, the Craggy Range is just like placing an entire mountain range for children to play on, a decision they'll surely appreciate for years to come. The alternating climbing wall and bar sections provide an excellent way to keep kids interested, especially if they want a break from the tricky holds. The three sections extend from a middle Craggy Tri Connect that children can climb up and over to reach different sides of the structure. From that central position, three Craggy Straight Sections offer a real challenge as they tower high like three peaks above the playground. A Craggy Geo Ladder Connect comes next and kids will enjoy trying to work their way across, over, or even through this piece as it's so versatile. The Craggy Turn Section follows on and the two angles of each side give children a different experience as one faces inwards and the other outwards. A Craggy Ladder Connect joins the last Craggy End Section onto the structure which is ideal for both starting and finishing a daring climb on this huge playset.
