

CIPOLLINO

The exquisite Cipollino marble, widely used throughout antiquity for its unique ornamental quality, is quarried in the Apuan Alps in northern Italy. Its unique green-beige coloring, with streaks and swirls of white and grey, evoke the fine layering of an onion, which yields its name: Cipollino, or “little onion,” in Italian. We’re stocking a fine selection of Cipollino in honed 12”x24” tiles, a 3CM straight joint mosaic, and 3/4” (2CM) slabs.
