Coleman and Fleetwood: A Heritage of Building High Quality Products with a Dedication to Total Customer Satisfaction.

Look At The Company Behind The Product

When you're thinking about the purchase of a folding trailer, it pays to look at the company behind the product. Be sure the company you plan to buy from will be there for you, not just tomorrow...but years down the road. You can count on the fact that Fleetwood and Coleman will be here to support your purchase for years to come.

With a camping heritage that spans more than 90 years, and an ongoing commitment to innovative design and quality, Coleman quickly became known as the "best value" in the camping industry. Fleetwood accomplished its own industry benchmark when the company became the world's largest producer of manufactured homes and recreational vehicles.

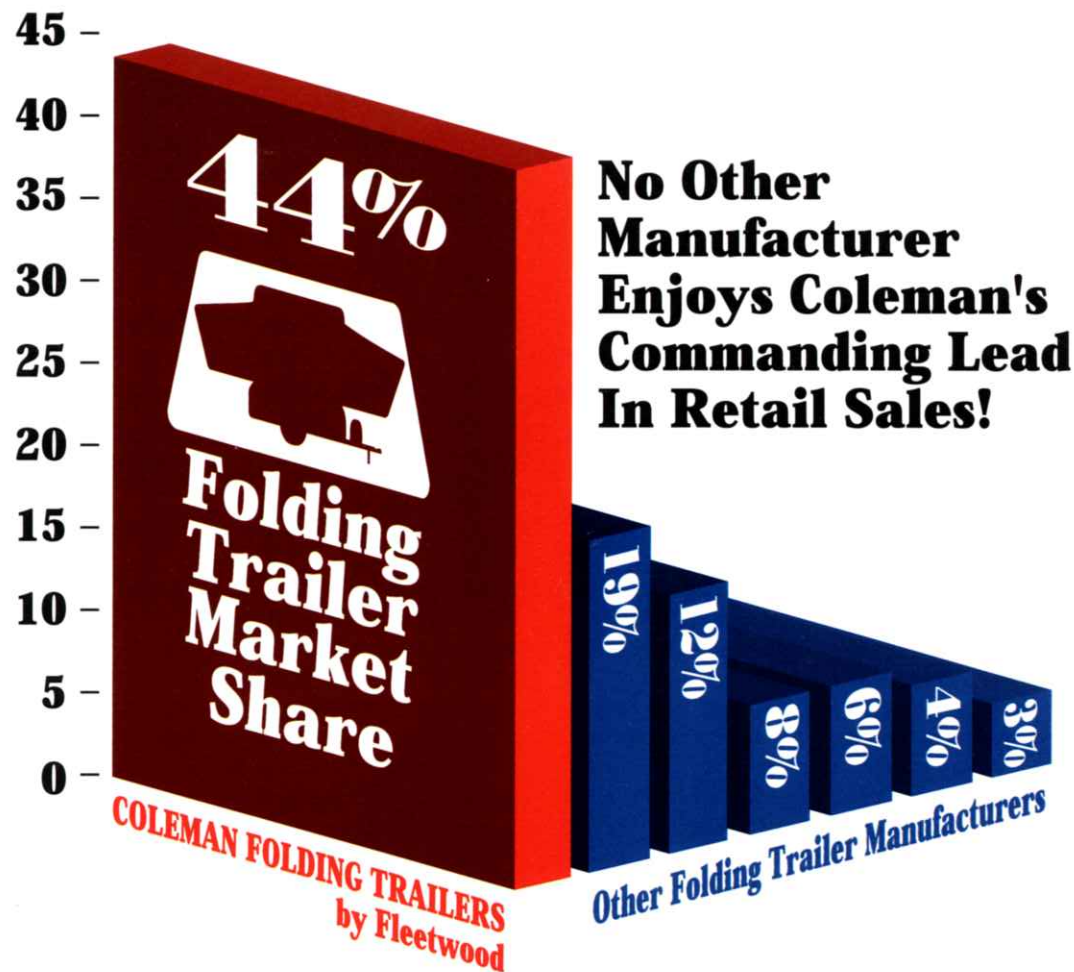

Quality and customer satisfaction take time and must be earned every day. Coleman and Fleetwood have invested the time it takes to develop the industry knowledge and expertise that keeps our customers coming back...time and time again.

This brochure is printed on recycled, coated paper so it can be reclaimed and used again. Like a lot of our customers, we believe it's time to do what we can to protect and preserve our environment. By using recycled paper we've saved approximately 1,216 trees, 500,513 gallons of water, 135 cubic yards of landfill space, and 293,150 kilowatt hours of electricity (enough to run 33-36 homes for one year)*. We hope that as you enjoy the camping experience and our great outdoors heritage you will remember the camper's creed...

The Customer Comes First With Us

For Coleman, it all started quietly enough back in 1900 by a man named William C. Coleman. W.C., as most of his friends called him, started the company as a "one-man private utility". Back then the company was called the Hydro Carbon Light Company. The company rented lamps to stores, lodge halls, churches and other public buildings, and eventually, to homes beyond the reach of electric service. Coleman grew with a basic, simple customer philosophy... "No Light - No Pay". The philosophy stuck, and even today we believe that no product is truly sold unless and until it's delivering a satisfactory service to its user.

During World War II, Coleman's creativity was rewarded with unprecedented sales for his famed G.I. Pocket Stove and special lanterns. After the war, the growth of outdoor recreation found Coleman ready with picnic jugs, portable heating appliances, tents, sleeping bags, backpacking gear and folding trailers.

Fleetwood Begins Producing Revolutionary New Products

Meanwhile, following World War II, a dreamer and tinkerer named John C. Crean started his first business in the garage of his small home in Southern California, by selling venetian blinds to trailer manufacturers. This business venture was the humble beginning for John's more direct involvement in the housing industry. Housing built in a factory was John's vision to make the "American Dream" of owning a home a reality for more Americans.

In 1950 John Crean took a bold step and founded his own company. He named it Fleetwood. Putting his practical ideas into action, John opened his initial manufactured housing production facilities in Anaheim, California. From this modest beginning, the company steadily grew, becoming the largest producer of manufactured housing in the world today.

In 1964, John Crean expanded into the recreational vehicle business. Fleetwood grew by leaps and bounds as recreational vehicles became a very popular and affordable way to vacation and enjoy the great outdoors.

Coleman and Fleetwood Join Forces

Over the years, both Coleman and Fleetwood have grown steadily, establishing reputations built on providing customer value and satisfaction. Coleman has come to symbolize "the greatest name in the great outdoors" with an unparalleled commitment to outdoor recreation. The Fleetwood name is widely recognized for superior quality and value and can be found on one out of every three RVs on the road today. Now that Coleman and Fleetwood have joined forces, the combined commitment to quality and value continues to foster uniquely superior products with even greater customer appeal and satisfaction.

"There's nothing like a Coleman Folding Trailer!"

These Coleman Folding Trailer owners survived the "Storm of the Century" in Florida with their Coleman Folding Trailer. Through all the torrential rains, hail, tornado alert and 60-90 mph winds, their Coleman Folding Trailer came through totally unscathed. "Neighbors and friends came by to see how 'those people in the folding trailer' made out", said Florence Halmose. "Well, it passed with flying colors." If our trailers can survive these conditions, they should be able to stand up to whatever you can dish out!

CIRCLE OF EXCELLENCE CUSTOMER SATISFACTION PROGRAM

"We Care..."

Fleetwood's commitment to customer satisfaction is evident through our Circle of Excellence Customer Satisfaction Program. Each and every purchaser of a Coleman folding trailer receives a personal phone call or a written survey after six months of ownership of their camper to insure that our product is continuing to provide a satisfactory service. Fleetwood and our dealers are committed to providing quality products and quality service for your peace of mind and complete satisfaction.

Dip wooden matches in nail polish or paraffin to keep them dry.

Vegetables wrapped in aluminum foil with two tablespoons of water will cook in about 15 minutes over hot coals.

New For 1994! Easy To Use Hydraulic Lift System

The all new hydraulic lift system is a cinch to use, and so convenient! To operate, simply turn a switch and watch as your folding trailer sets up automatically. The durable hydraulic pump and motor are powered by an available optional battery located on the tongue of the trailer. Heavy gauge wire is used to connect the battery to the pump for efficient transmission of the 12V DC current. When the cylinder is fully extended, a safety latch engages the end of the cylinder to insure ease of operation and safety. Once you're ready to lower the trailer back to its folding position, just release the safety latch and turn in the valve handle. It's that simple!
