We are always excited to introduce a classic fiber-arts technique to our world-wide beading family. On May 24, 2017, Emily Miller joined Kate Richbourg live on Facebook to share this crochet-chain technique. We excited about the technique and also introducing Emily to our worldwide community of amazing beaders...yes, that's you!

Episode Notes are not a Project Handout. They are intended to include links to products and topics discussed during the live episode. We apologize if we left out any information. Please email us at info@beadshop.com with any questions. Happy Beading!

Let's start by saying hello to Emily Miller, an old friend and side-kick of Kate's. Emily has created more than ninety beading classes over the course of two decades of teaching. Welcome!

Okay...let's get started!

Kate shared how she had taken a day and flown to Los Angeles for an afternoon at the Bowers Museum. Then we all started chatting about other favorites: The Walker Art Center in Minneapolis, Minnesota The Cleveland Museum of Art in Cleveland, Ohio

1. Karen W. shared with us her gorgeous design inspired by our last project. Here are the links: Soft Flex 101 Project Skill Builder: How to Crimp and Cover Sketch-a-Necklace Soft Flex Live Challenge with Sara Oehler

2. And, from Finland, Helena sent us photos of lovely pieces she had made. Here are links to projects and learning: Mosaic 4 Wrap Project Page Odyssey Project Page

The video is so easy to follow along. Emily starts out showing us the crochet chain stitch with cotton twine and roller beads. If you'd like to start watching at the beginning of the technique learning, begin at Minute 24:00.

Throughout the episode, the ladies answer questions and mention products. Here is a list (probably not complete!) of products discussed on Facebook:
