WHOLESALE COFFEE GUIDE

ABOUT US

At the Lost Bean we go beyond the cup of coffee.

We aim to serve our community, maintain a sustainable model of consumption, and offer an experience that is The Lost Bean.

Our Coffee makes its way to us in green form. There is importance in the quality of coffee, there are many reasons we choose to be Organic, but magic is in the roaster itself. These high quality beans need to be met with a high quality maker, so we roast in-house with a Loring Smart Roaster.

This unique roaster beautifully compliments our vision of a sustainable coffee company. The Loring is an air roaster, that transfers heat through convection and recirculates the heat, opposed to a traditional drum roaster that relies heavily on conduction to transfer heat.

The Loring helps us achieve cleanliness and clarity in our roasts, as well as minimizing our environmental footprint by recirculating energy and burning off up to 80% of greenhouse gases. We do our best to close the loop by donating our burlap sacks and coffee chaff to those that can reuse and repurpose these items.
