

Step 1- Drill a small hole in the side of the hoop where you would like your branch to be anchored. It may be necessary to trim the end of the stick with a Stanley knife to make it smooth enough to go into the hole you have made. Once the stick is firmly in place you will need to see if the loose end needs fixing to the other side. If it does, use a small dab of hot glue and carefully press one of the ends onto it to secure it.

Step 2- Clip your birds onto branches.

Step 3- Tie a scrap of embroidery yarn into a loop and use it to hang the hoop. The hoop may be hung from a ceiling as a mobile or fixed to the wall as an artwork.
