

Hommage à Pierre Jeanneret.

Included in Unesco's 2016 Cultural Heritage list, the extraordinary architecture of Le Corbusier's Capitol Complex, designed by Chandigarh in 1951, has received accolades for its celebration of an independent nation open to modernity. This table is amongst the furnishing used for the large gatherings of the Legislative Assembly. It almost evokes the serious activities taking place, with two large, solid wood, graphic elements shaped like "comes entrecroisées". Cassina's reissue offers the classic version with a teak top and frame, and two versions in natural and black stained oak, with the option of a glass top in several sizes.

Gallery

Dimensions

4 cm
1.6 "

Designer

