Brydge again named CES Innovation Award Honoree & cements position as design and innovation leader

Award-Winning Manufacturer named CES 2018 Innovation Awards Honoree for Brydge 10.5 keyboard

LAS VEGAS (Jan. 9, 2018) – Brydge, a market leader in premium tablet keyboards, today announced that it has been named a CES 2018 Innovation Awards Honoree for the Brydge 10.5 for 10.5-inch iPad Pro. This prestigious award honors cutting edge design and engineering in consumer electronics products. The Brydge 10.5 will be on display at CES 2018 at booth #31814 in the South Hall of the LVCC.

Brydge has now been named a CES Innovation Award Honoree three years in a row for its market leading tablet keyboards, more than any of its competitors.

Unlocking the true potential of the latest iPad and elevating it to the next level, the Brydge 10.5 brings unparalleled design and industry-leading features to deliver a game-changing combination and the ultimate MacBook-like experience. Following the same award-winning design as previous Brydge models, the Brydge 10.5 is equipped with Brydge's patented 180-degree hinge system, 100% aluminum build, backlit keys, and superb haptic key feel. It also is backed by a best-in-class limited lifetime warranty.

"The latest iPad is a game-changing tablet and deserves a complementary keyboard. The Brydge 10.5 aims to unlock the full potential of the latest iPad and deliver the ultimate in mobile computing for iOS users" said Toby Mander-Jones, Co-CEO of Brydge. "We are excited to again be recognized for our leading design in tablet keyboards. Brydge is dedicated to being the market leader in innovative devices that deliver the ultimate experience in mobility and productivity when working with the iPad."
