Mission Statement

Ronald McDonald House New York provides a temporary “home-away-from-home” for pediatric cancer patients and their families. The House is a supportive and caring environment which encourages and nurtures the development of child-to-child and parent-to-parent support systems. Ronald McDonald House New York is the largest facility of its type in the world.

HOUSE NEW YORK

Dear Friends,

2009 was a year with great potential for failure. While Wall Street struggled and the global business community flailed, the uncertainty of the times brought fear and trepidation. For Ronald McDonald House New York, failure was not an option. For the children and families afflicted with pediatric cancer and the horror it brings, cancer was not an option. Cancer arrived uninvited, unwelcome and with uncertainty.

What happens when an uncertain world is compounded by an uncertain disease? Or, when the family of a pediatric cancer patient struggling to survive financially cannot afford the treatment that could save the life of their child?

The answer has been, for many, many families, Ronald McDonald House New York with extra emphasis on New York and its multicultural, bighearted communities who stepped in during a time when we most needed them. The New York City corporate community, small businesses and numerous individuals, struggling in their own lives with loss of income and joblessness, found a way to support us. In true New York fashion, the people of our great city stepped in. They nourished our families not just with meals or financial support but with fun, opportunity and most of all Hope. They volunteered their time and skills when they were jobless and financially strapped. They provided services, friendship and when they could, funds. In the simplest and profoundest of ways, they provided smiles for children and families who didn't have a lot to smile about.

As the song goes, New York, New York, a helluva town and an important destination in a family's journey to find a cure for their cancer-stricken child. New York City offers the greatest advances in medicine, maximum opportunities for learning, art and culture, a limitless environment for the acceptance of other cultures, races and differences and an infinite capacity for love. Like New York City itself, cancer is multicultural, diverse, ageless, new and an opponent of great cunning and sophistication. What cancer doesn't have is the love, support and community that our children have found in New York City with its unmatched determination and generosity.

So, thank you New York with our utmost gratitude and affection. With you in our corner, failure will never be an option!

With sincere appreciation,

William T. Sullivan
President & Chief Executive Officer

Ashlynn Hauser

Ashlynn lives at Ronald McDonald House New York with her family while she receives treatment for pediatric cancer. Pediatric cancer is a complicated disease, not just for the child with cancer but for the entire family. Siblings, in particular, suffer an array of emotional challenges. In addition to fear, siblings often experience feelings of confusion, separation and anxiety. Moving to a big city like New York from other states and countries can be traumatic. The transition from the routines and comfort of life at home, school, friends and extended family is compounded by the stress of worrying about a seriously ill brother or sister. Ronald McDonald House New York understands these challenges. We provide programs and services specifically designed to meet the needs of all the children. So while Ashlynn receives cutting edge treatment only available in New York City, her sister Elizabeth can attend school, meet with tutors for extra help, participate in music lessons and the many programs and activities we provide daily. Most of all, Elizabeth and Ashlynn are with other children who are going through the same experience. These sisters can create new memories, make friends to last a lifetime and take advantage of all that our great city has to offer, thanks to the generosity of its people and businesses.

2009: The Year in Review

2009 was a difficult – yet successful – year for Ronald McDonald House New York. In a year that sparked fear and anxiety, perhaps even more so than in 2008, success was found in surprising, new and unexpected ways. Success was a delicate balancing act between Wall Street and the individual preparing a simple home-cooked dish for our families. Success came in the form of needed services, time or skill when cash was scarce for our vendors, volunteers and supporters at every level. Success was apparent when our staff contributed $35,000 of their earnings back to the House. Perhaps the biggest factor in our success was sheer, focused determination.

Early in the year, major losses in the financial services industry created an atmosphere of alarm and unease. But, in hindsight, what seemed disastrous at first proved to be a year of accomplishment born out of necessity, innovation and a collective resolve. Fundraising in an atmosphere of fear, combined with creativity, led to some especially inspired achievements.

Tina Lundgren, Board Member

Take, for example, Board Member Tina Lundgren who ran 100 miles of races in what we called “The Tina 100” culminating with the ING NYC Marathon. Tina’s efforts, through donations that ranged from $20 to $25,000, raised over $150,000. Our first-ever Ronald McDonald ING NYC Marathon Team joined Tina raising significant sums of their own.

2009: The Year in Review

Thanks to our highly mobilized, all-volunteer Board of Directors, new industries were considered as potential House sponsors. The fashion industry joined us, for one, and at our annual Gala last May, with apparel Honoree Tommy Hilfiger and financial services Honoree Art Samberg of Pequot Capital, this event produced a surprising result of $500,000 beyond its budgeted income. Our guests also had the rare opportunity to meet ABC News Anchor Bob Woodruff, our Master of Ceremonies, and hear of his incredible journey to recovery from traumatic brain injury. In a heartfelt speech, Mr. Woodruff conveyed his understanding of the difficulties and stresses in overcoming the effects of serious health challenges.

With the success of our annual Gala, the apparel industry teamed up with the entertainment industry for a “Make-a-Difference” evening in November. With support from Board Member Joseph Gromek, President & CEO of Warnaco, Inc., a New York-based apparel company, the evening celebrated Make-a-Difference honorees Helen McCluskey and Frank Tworecke of Warnaco, Inc. with performances in our Macy’s Living Room by Jordin Sparks, Ruben Studdard and Brooke White of the FOX hit reality series American Idol. The event raised more than $525,000!

2009 was a year of musical triumphs in our Programming Department beginning in-House each Wednesday afternoon with the New York Pops teaching artists under the direction of Dr. Sherrie Maricle. The New York Pops Education Program serves thousands of children throughout New York City, but for the children of Ronald McDonald House New York, the opportunity to train under the direction of such accomplished musicians is a real gift. The New York Pops Organization provides the children with free music lessons, admission to rehearsals and concerts and free classroom programs designed to spark the creative potential within every child. “Music for anybody is an incredible creative outlet,” says Sherrie Maricle. “When people allow themselves to freely tap into that part of themselves, music can help in both good and bad emotional situations in ways that can’t be expressed with simple words. That’s why it’s so powerful.” The New York Pops teaching artists have coached our budding rock stars on electric guitar, bass, drums and percussion, songwriting and performance skills.

2009: The Year in Review

Our in-House Rock'n'Rollers call themselves "Bad Habit" and have had a fantastic year, practically on tour in New York City. The New York Pops residency program included a special performance with The New York Pops at their 26th Birthday Gala. On April 27th, Bad Habit performed on the great stage at Carnegie Hall with The New York Pops Orchestra one of Bob Dorough's Schoolhouse Rock classics, Conjunction Junction. They continued their performances over the year for students at The American School for the Deaf, our 17th Annual Gala in The Waldorf=Astoria Hotel's Grand Ballroom and during the annual Light a Light! Share a Night! celebration. Bad Habit has gone on to record tracks at two professional recording studios with plans to record at least three additional tracks.

Another musical highlight was celebrated in August. Each summer, the State University of New York at Oneonta selects outstanding musicians to participate with other young musicians from all over the world under the direction of some of the world's finest conductors as well as some of music's most celebrated concert artists. Three of our stars (two patients and one sibling) received full scholarships to the New York Summer Music Festival hosted by the Music Department at SUNY Oneonta for two full weeks.

Over the year past, the Department of Family Support added a new holistic program specifically created to improve the health and quality of life for the moms and female caregivers of seriously ill children. Called "Women's Integrative Wellness," the program strives to provide family-centered care and support with services that nurture mind, body and spirit. Integrative wellness treatments, which include therapeutic massage, reflexology, Jin Shin Jyutsu, Reiki, yoga, aesthetician facials, cosmetics application and hair styling are offered on a monthly basis in our Macy's Living Room. Participants have a rare opportunity to relax, connect with each other and enjoy healthy light fare while waiting for their individual treatments provided by licensed practitioners who volunteer their time and expertise. Many of the Wellness events include informative lectures on self-care, diet and exercise or stress reduction and time management given by experts in the field of Women's Health. Other Wellness services include trips to day spas such as Estee Lauder, Elizabeth Arden Red Door and Clarins Skin Care Institute where participants receive mini-facials, makeovers and instruction on the techniques of healthy skin care.

If you were to meet Lauren or any of the other Ronald McDonald House New York children, it might or might not immediately be apparent that he or she has a serious illness. One of the trademark characteristics of children living with us is a smile - something the staff and volunteers at the House enjoy in abundance. Studies show that happy children are better able to deal with the stress and pain of cancer treatment. We believe that children are children first and foremost and based upon that belief, we build programs for children of all ages, accordingly. Our programs are fun, challenging, often messy and sometimes, just plain goofy. So while we let the medical staff at our 14 Partner Hospitals take care of the important matters of cancer treatment, we take care of the important matters of childhood: building the imagination and encouraging goofiness.

2009: The Year in Review

By cultivating community partnerships with Wellness practitioners in the New York City area, the Department of Family Support procured over $34,000 in donations that included a spa table worth over $500 from the Earthlite Company used during the spa night events. An annual Mom's Spa Night Event was presented in partnership with the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society of New York City with a donation of $1,500. Further donations of cosmetics, first aid supplies, hair and skin care products, sunglasses, strollers, totes, luggage and other items from the Children's Wish Foundation were redistributed across the Operations and Programming Departments. Overages were shared with partner organizations in need including CHONY Founder's Committee for Morgan Stanley Children's Hospital, Epiphany Day School and New York-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medical Center Children's Burn Unit Christmas program.

The Company Store stepped in to help for the second year supplying us with new bed linens and towels for our guest rooms and beach blankets and bags for our summer camp. They sponsored our annual Light a Light! Share a Night! event, featured us in their Company Store magazine and on their website and over the course of the year supported us to the tune of $60,000.

Our highly committed volunteers, known as Team Ronald McDonald, proved, in 2009, to be a tenacious group. Undeterred – or perhaps fueled - by the bad economy, the team raised more than $250,000 in cash and in-kind donations at their annual fundraiser, Imagine, with 100% volunteer participation. 2009 also saw a large increase in the number of individuals looking to volunteer leading to expanded opportunities for volunteers to take on administrative roles across in-House departments. With the extensive renovations to the Kitchens and Dining Room over the summer months, community groups and individuals pitched in and took on the enormous job of feeding our families three full meals per day for the duration at no cost to the House. The same groups have continued to make considerable donations broadening outreach and fundraising for the House, overall. Many of those donors credit their one-on-one interactions with the kids and families the reason they have stayed. Feeding our families remains an important component of volunteerism in the community. Holiday events and dinners that were once funded and provided by the House and its staff such as the Mother's Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners are now completely covered by outside groups in addition to the many local restaurants that provide monthly or weekly meals. With a trend in youth philanthropy, we have developed new volunteer opportunities for teens and have increased participation in the annual Ronald McDonald House New York Kids Charity Fun Run in Central Park. Team Ronald McDonald is currently hard at work planning their 2010 fundraiser, A Little Piece of My Heart, to be presented this June.

2009: The Year in Review

2009 concluded with the completion of a series of important upgrades to the facility beginning with a full remodel of the second floor Kitchens, Dining Room and restrooms. The space was transformed, in part, by donations of services and materials at a significant savings. The renovation included the installation of electric wiring, new gas and plumbing lines, top quality kitchen cabinets with conceptualized universal symbols, stone counter-tops, stainless steel sinks, easy-use faucets, dishwashers, stoves, microwaves, refrigerators, lighting, security cameras, flooring and dining tables and chairs. The restrooms received new wiring, plumbing, fixtures, faucets and flushometers with sensor activation for hygienic, germ-free use, vanities, stone counter tops and new wall and floor tile throughout. In June, the Hercules Corporation donated 12 industrial-strength washers and 9 commercial-grade dryers to the House along with lifetime parts and service. Efficient Boiler provided boiler maintenance, parts and service - worth thousands of dollars – at no cost to the House. In terms of the comfort our families so desperately need, Efficient's diligence and instant availability over a harsh winter was priceless. Additionally, we are continuing our efforts toward a greener, cleaner environment with recycling initiatives and the modernization of our HVAC system to reduce overall energy consumption and increase control over heating and cooling.

As we move forward in continued uncertainty, we are taking steps to ensure that resources are utilized with the utmost care. We are taking the time to cultivate existing community relationships and build new ones. We embrace every opportunity to meet our neighbors and key members of the larger community. We talk to officials through the Community Affairs offices of our New York Partner Hospitals and New York City agencies such as the Department of Sanitation, the Department of Housing and the New York City Fire Department. We engage law enforcement and various sections of the New York City Police Department, Transit Police, Bomb Squad and Detective Squad to help educate, train and support us. The City of New York has not just embraced us but has become our partner ensuring our children and families a safe, affordable and inviting place to live during the worst crisis they may face, ever. For the second year in 2009, Ronald McDonald House New York hosted a Community Block Party to thank, educate and celebrate with our local communities who have supported us for more than 31 years.

Our Board of Directors and House Management will continue seeking new revenue streams and creative ways to grow in the years ahead. We have set in motion a long-range strategic plan under the Chairmanship of Board Member Harris Diamond, CEO of Weber Shandwick. And, while we have no way to predict the future, we can move ahead with the assurance that all responsible means will be undertaken to fulfill our mission in New York City.

On behalf of the children and families we serve, the responsibility to maintain a House of Hope, warmth and support falls upon all of us. Children with cancer depend upon New York's cutting-edge medical system. They depend on us for a place to live and rest. We depend on you to help us provide that.

Danika Stanchi

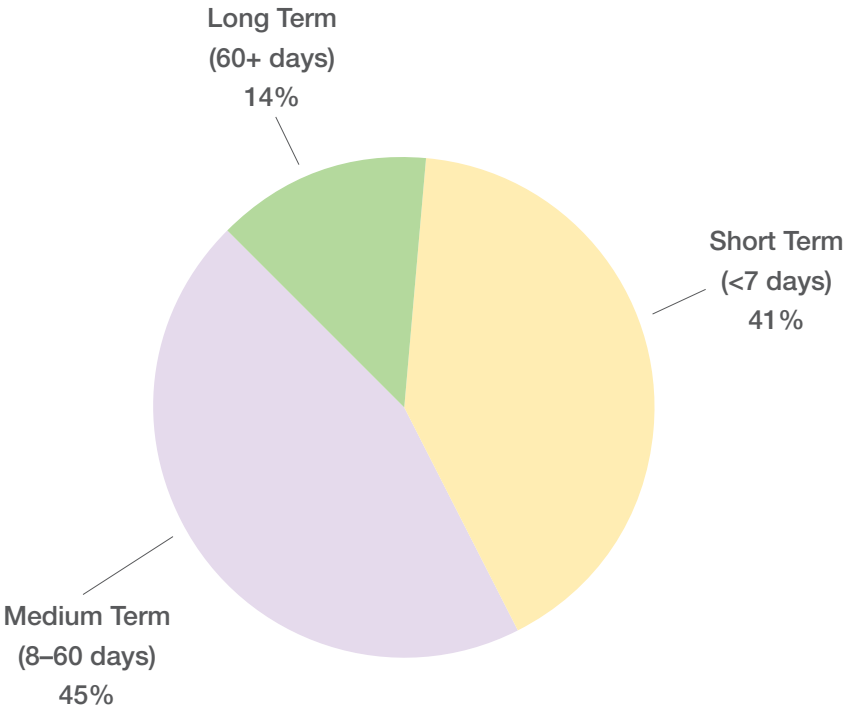

Danika and her mom Danielle live at Ronald McDonald House New York while Danika receives treatment for Neuroblastoma, a childhood cancer that affects a large percentage of pediatric cancer patients under the age of two. While treatment for the disease is slowly becoming available in other locations, New York City is still a major hub when it comes to Neuroblastoma research and treatment. Through clinical trials, advances in treatment protocols and teams of world-class pediatric oncologists, many of the children who come to New York from across the world - in Danika's case, Florida - are benefiting from the rapid development of new protocols and technology. Thankfully, success rates for Neuroblastoma treatment are on the rise. So, while Danika receives her treatment, Ronald McDonald House New York provides a home filled with support, comfort and most of all, Hope.

javier

Javier Gallardo

Javier is cancer-free and on his way home. Under the circumstances, we hope never to see him again. This is one of the happy stories we celebrate. Increasingly, thanks to new technology, medical advances and a lot of commitment, the number of children surviving and receiving good news like Javier is increasing each day. Still, there are thousands of new cases of pediatric cancer each year and our House is filled to capacity nearly every night. While Javier moves back home to learn and grow, many families are just getting the news that their child has a life-threatening illness and their next move is into Ronald McDonald House New York. It is our job to support them until they receive their own good news but we cannot do it without your support. Make a donation today.
