Learning, Building, and Committing to a New Cross-Racial Solidarity & Sxsterhood (or, I've read all the books, now what?)

In 2021, we still have questions...

- What do you do after you've read all the anti-racism books?
- How can non-BIPOC women build more trusting and joyful relationships with BIPOC womxn?
- How can BIPOC womxn examine any barriers that stand between them and stronger sisterhood with other BIPOC women?
- How to kickstart your own set of easy steps towards authentic allyship?
- How do I show I really care, and when do I need to step back?

*The answers already lie within you...
let's find them together.*

In this 90-minute interactive workshop, participants will explore and discuss blind spots and other impediments to stronger sisterhood. Such as:

- Why are these such bad things to say? (or even think? And where do they come from?)
- How can I not feel bad about what I don't already know? (answer: attending this workshop means you're already aware, willing, and walking! Brave Sis is a shame-free zone!!)
- How can ALL women build more celebration together?
- Am I really able to de-center, listen, learn and celebrate? (answer: duh)

Join us for a probing and productive examination of blind spots, hidden narratives, dead ends and demonstrating/committing to the idea that... Ally.Is.A.Verb.
