

Apps

The following is a compilation of alphabetized apps that can be used in speech-language therapy with children. I gathered them from a variety of sources. First, a big thanks to Mary Ann Simpson who first set me on this quest by sending me a list of apps that she acquired at a seminar. That was just the beginning—there are a lot of apps out there, and the list grows daily. I then supplemented her list with apps from the above websites, and from other very helpful SLPs at seminars. There may be some duplicates.

There is a website called “appadvice.com” that does reviews, lists, etc. I have not, however, personally purchased and reviewed all of the following apps, but the list will get you started to accessing some new and exciting ways to implement therapy. Check ‘em out--like all things, some are better than others, and have fun!
