Saitama, Japan | EST. 1996

COEDO BREWERY is Japan's most respected and iconic craft brewery. Located one hour North of Tokyo, COEDO (pronounced Co "A" Doh) brews beautifully balanced beers through traditional German brewing techniques and Japanese artisanal craftsmanship.

Marihana

Session IPA

Marihana, which means "hop flower" in Japanese, has a delicate, citrusy hop aroma. With the contrast of its light golden hues and fluffy white head, this session IPA delivers a highly drinkable beer without sacrificing on flavor. The beautiful aroma and sophisticated bitterness, combined with the balance of hops, gives this beer everything one could want in an IPA, with a lower alcohol content for drinkability.
