

Stowaway

Herman Beeftink's music always begins with an image, and STOWAWAY is no exception. The piece depicts the rambunctious life of a stowaway aboard a giant pirate ship, running below decks, clambering around the rigging, and avoiding the angry shouts of the motley ship's crew. The perils of a pirate life are no problem for a tiny swashbuckler, and so they navigate adventure after adventure, swinging on ropes, swordfighting with enemies, and as the music closes, taking their place as a proud ship's captain!
