🍷 THE WINE:

From start to finish this fine wine is crafted 236 feet underground in constant temperatures of 57-59°F using the same natural techniques practiced for over 300 years in Champagne, France. The juice from the grapes is extricated under the weight of the grapes themselves with little skin contact. Primary fermentation in tanks creates a dry wine without sugars, allowing the selection of the best blends. During the next 40 - 50 days, active secondary fermentation takes place in the bottle, and the wine is naturally saturated with carbon dioxide. Further aging in the bottle for at least 18 months occurs on yeast lees, allowing the wine to acquire its multifaceted bouquet and full palate.

🕒 AGING:
