ProAuto Rubber Extrusions

Rubber extrusions are made by extruding rubber through a profile. These extrusions come in many shapes and sizes. Pinchweld have metal braces embedded in the rubber, this allows the rubber to hold onto panels plates or lids, Extrusions come in solid rubber, sponge rubber and pvc. Extrusions can also have features like weave patterns for interior finishing and flocking for where windows move and cause a lot of friction.

Natural rubber

Produced from a tropical tree. For over one hundred years rubber was based on natural rubber

Ethylene propylene diene monomer (EPDM)

Used for glazing and refrigeration extrusions. Good heat resistance, excellent weather resistance and good low temperature resistance

Nitrile (NBR)

Used in 'O' rings with good mechanical properties. Excellent resistance to oils and fuels and good alkali acid resistance.

Nitrile food quality (NFQ)

Food gaskets, buffers and liners. Good oil and heat resistance

Non-toxic

Non-swelling

Synthetic rubber

Made in factories from crude oil since the 1930s. Rubber compound will have +_ 18 Ingredients

Silicone

Extreme temperature like oven door seals. Heat resistance up to 250C, excellent weather resistance and moderate fuel resistance.

Neoprene (CR)

Used in oil and fuel gaskets, good mechanical properties and excellent weather resistance

Flame resistant

Polyvinyl Chloride (PVC)

Used to extrude pinch weld and building profiles. Good for UV resistance

Non-marking

Rubber is used in a wide range of products

tyres, tubes, engine mountings, screen door universal extrusions, building profiles, sheeting, flooring, hoses, footwear, belting, tubing, gaskets, cables, grommets, bushes, rollers, handle grips, tools, bakkie mats, trailer, mats, mudflaps, diving suits, elastic, balloons, condoms, tank linings, pipelines, gloves, fan belts, oil seals, dummies, bottle treats, squash balls , tennis balls, golf balls, rugby balls and much more...

Rubber adds to quality of life

Without rubber we would have Noisy, wet and bumpy cars. No gum to chew. Crying babies without rubber nipples. No Balloons for celebrations no soft wheels for road transportation and no condoms for safe sex.
