Standing tall

The Casadei label was founded in 1958 by Quinto and Flora Casadei. Season after season, the Casadei family company's style is renewed, producing shoes for women with exclusive hand-finished materials and skilled workmanship.

Made with 800 Swarovski Elements crystals, the Casadei Atelier Collection model is one of the highlights from Casadei's collection. Each of the crystals has been embroidered onto the shoe by hand so as to create a beautiful chain effect that will be admired by many. www.casadei.com

A fashion classic renewed

This year, Ascher studio launched their first new collection of scarves in 30 years. The 'Trellis' design is a contemporary adaptation of an Ascher scarf created by the British artist Graham Sutherland in 1946. It was originally printed as a black abstract form onto a series of different pastel backgrounds. To update the design for Spring 2011, Sam Ascher has scaled it up so that it makes an impact on a large piece of 120 x 120cm cashmere/modal twill. Along with the new Ascher logo, a hand-painted border has also been added on the left and bottom sides of the scarf. www.ascherstudio.co.uk
