

Australian Made Candles

Handpoured in regional NSW

MEERΔBOO

OUR STORY

Meeraboo are a family-owned business based in regional NSW. Most of our family members play a role in the business from pouring, labelling, product development, packaging and distribution.

Our business started in 2014 as a hobby from Mum's kitchen table, and quickly turned into a full-time business with #meerobsessed customers and stockists Australia-wide. Today, all our candles are hand-poured in small batches in our dream "candle shed" in Cargo NSW.

Our product range has shifted over the years based on trends and customer feedback, but we have always remained true to our minimalist and classic aesthetic. We work in a palette of matte white, gold and natural hues with tasteful pops of colour to complement the style of every home and store.

Our luxurious candle collection combines scents inspired by everything that we love - simple, beautiful things.

We really hope you love what we have created.

The Sensory Experience

We realise that when someone lights a candle it's probably during a rare self-care moment or at the end of their day.

We like to think of ourselves as being part of that special moment with attention placed on every detail.

Anyone who has ever received a package from us knows how much love and care goes into them. Whether you are giving a gift to someone special or treating yourself, the unboxing experience is part of the entire sensory process.

The power of scent is ultimately at the heart of everything we do. The ability of our candles to evoke emotions and memories or create just the right ambiance is the magic of Meeraboo.

In the Making

Our Maker

Deb (Mum) has always been the candle maker and pours all our candles by hand. Mum absolutely loves coming to work each day and being surrounded by her family and grand-children whom she adores.

Our Team

Meeraboo is owned and run by Danni and her husband Steve, whilst raising their young children. All candles are hand-poured by Danni's Mum (Deb), labelled by Steve's Mum (Kay), and packaged by our newest members Ellie and James (Danni's brother).

Our Products

Our products are hand-made in small batches to ensure consistency and quality and everything else is hand-done too including labelling and packaging.
