Payton Cosell Turner

You might know Payton Cosell Turner as one-half of the ultra-cool wallpaper brand Flat Vernacular, but did you know she's also the editor-in-chief of Girls At Library? The online journal is dedicated to cool women who share a passion for reading.

"A library card is the most freeing experience of youth that I can remember," Cosell Turner says. "The card in hand, I suddenly had access to worlds of information and excitement, plus the ability to choose whatever I wanted and bring it home with me — multiple times, if we're talking about Betsy-Tacey or Nancy Drew."

Go ahead, support Girls At Library with some of its sweet swag.
