

The Highly Anticipated Clio™ from ClearView™ Audio Hits Store Shelves

Award-winning Clear Wireless Speaker Now Available at Restoration Hardware Galleries

WELLESLEY, Mass. – November 6, 2014 - ClearView™ Audio, an entrepreneurial company led by a team of innovative designers and engineers deeply steeped in Boston's acclaimed acoustic speaker heritage, is pleased to introduce its revolutionary new speaker at retail. Clio™, a totally unique, invisible wireless speaker has garnered multiple awards since its introduction at the Consumer Electronics Show (CES) earlier this year and is available starting today.

“Clio is among excellent company with RH, with our mutual focus on a premium lifestyle consumer experience.”

Restoration Hardware (RH) is the first national retailer to carry Clio, with the product available in 17 Galleries across the U.S. and Canada, including New York, Toronto, Dallas, Boston, Houston and Atlanta. The speaker is also featured in RH's highly anticipated annual Holiday Source Book and online at RH.com.

“We are thrilled to introduce Clio to the market at Restoration Hardware, and are proud to be associated with an iconic brand known for its curated luxury lifestyle offerings,” said ClearView Audio CEO Stefan Bokamper. “Clio is among excellent company with RH, with our mutual focus on a premium lifestyle consumer experience.”

In addition to selected RH Galleries, Clio is available online at the ClearView Audio Store.

Clio is a revolutionary new speaker that employs an ultra-thin, slightly curved, and optically clear acrylic glass transducer to disperse sound waves in multiple directions. Because of its innovative acoustic design, Clio can be placed anywhere and produce rich, clear, room-filling sound. Clio's sleek, minimalistic design allows the barely visible speaker to “disappear” against its surroundings.

Clio enjoyed a tremendously successful launch at the Consumer Electronics Show earlier this year. There, ClearView Audio won two highly-coveted editorial awards including “Best of CES2014: Audio Product” from Engadget and the Reviewed.com/USA Today “Editors' Choice Award.” Additionally, ClearView Audio was recognized as a CES Innovations Design & Engineering Awards Honoree prior to the show.
