

LEARNING IS NOT A SPECTATOR SPORT, SO LET'S PLAY!

Sphero Sports introduces students to football and STEM through hands-on, football-themed coding and mathematics activities. By combining football with interactive and engaging programming activities, students become Sphero Sports masters of block-based coding. This all-in-one solution is perfect to get students excited about STEM learning through a sport they already know and love, as well as providing sports teams, community education foundations and schools with the perfect start in teaching STEM Education.

Students will work with a mobile device to control and code Sphero BOLT, our programmable robotic ball, to complete football-themed skills such as passing, dribbling, and shooting on a high quality lino football code mat, branded with your logo. Our football-themed activities are aligned with computer science fundamentals, as well as being aligned with National Curriculum mathematics links such as geometry, properties of shapes, measurements, position, and direction.

Coding via Sphero Sports is a fun and real-world way to teach computational thinking and problem solving skills. When students create or debug a program in Sphero Sports, they are applying computational concepts such as algorithmic thinking, logic, and repetition in programs to solve complex problems, therefore, executing the real-life skills needed for the 21st century and the jobs of the future!
