

Illustrated bouquets by Alice Draws the Line

Preservation through illustration, bespoke artwork to keep your blooms at their best.

Original artwork to capture your bouquet forever!

I use a fresh, modern style of botanical illustration. The flowers are preserved using pen and watercolour paints. First the outlines are drawn in black ink and then watercolour paints record their vivid colours.

I work from photographs so you will need to provide these for me to work from. The colour of and light on the blooms will be a reflection your photographic image, so please consider this when choosing images to send for me to work from. If there is a specific angle that you would like shown in the bouquet, please let me know which image this is shown in.

It's really helpful if you can provide any flower names for the blooms used in your bouquet, so that I can research any plant structures that are unclear from the photographs. If you don't know the names, your florist may be able to help.

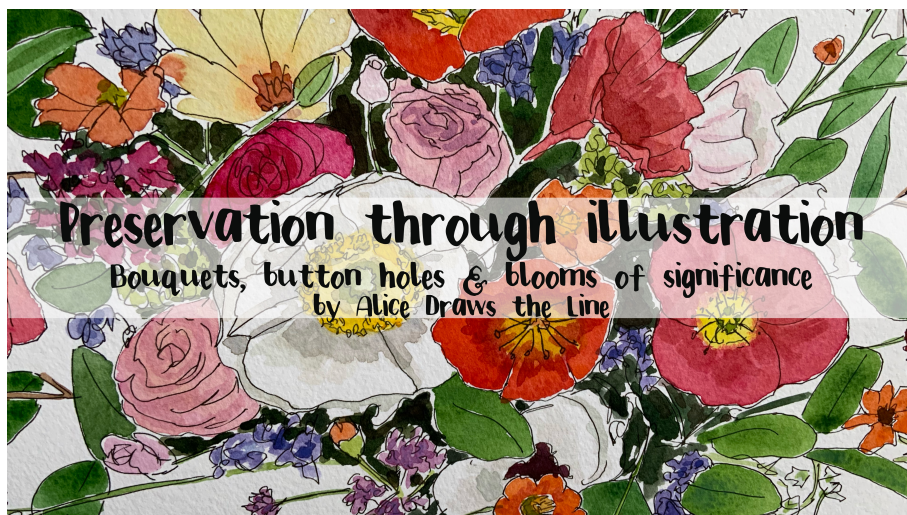

I film and photograph the work as I creates it. This may be used in social media or on my website once your artwork has been delivered. If you know your florist's social media handle please include that along with your own.

Artwork is created on watercolour paper and sold unframed. Completed artwork A5 and A4 is posted flat in card reinforced envelopes and A3 and A2 are rolled and posted in a cardboard postage tube. Local customers are welcome to collect the finished piece from the studio.

Please allow two weeks or more for your artwork to be completed.
