The Parents’ Picks Awards draws on 45 years of experience testing and evaluating products, considering 50 criteria during each year’s approval process. Hubble Connected Guardian and Eclipse: All in the Family

The Guardian Family of Wearable Baby Movement Monitors includes the Guardian+ ($149), Guardian Cam ($199), and Guardian Pro ($299). All three include a soft wearable strap with a sensor and a Base Station. The sensor helps parents track sleep quality indicators such as heart rate, oxygen levels, and the child's sleep status. The Base Station doubles as a nightlight and soother/sound machine that streams hundreds of sleep sounds to create bedtime and rise-to-wake routines and serves as a charging station for the sensor. The Guardian Cam adds a high-definition smart camera with an additional nightlight, and the Guardian Pro is the first package in the category to include a movement monitor, smart HD camera, and five” touchscreen parent unit.

The Eclipse family of “smart soothers” includes the Eclipse ($59) and Eclipse+ ($79). Equipped with a multi-color night light, preloaded lullabies, plus hundreds of expert-curated soothing sounds and bedtime stories, the products help create healthy sleep routines. The versatile Eclipse+ comes with a wireless charging base. The unique ConnectChat™ feature enables two-way conversation between a child and parent/ caregiver, allowing messages to be sent between the Eclipse unit at the HubbleClub app.

Nursery Pal Dual Vision: 2 Options; 1 Camera

The Nursery Pal Dual Vision ($229) is the only unit on the market featuring both a wide-angle and regular view camera. It comes with a 5-inch screen parent unit and a patent-pending dual-lens camera which parents can view and access via the HubbleClub app on their smartphones. The camera simultaneously provides close-up and wide-angle viewing, along with AI Motion Tracking. Most importantly, as the child grows, the ConnectChat™ feature allows for easy two-way communication between parent and child. The multi-purpose camera also allows parents to soothe their little ones to sleep through the enhanced, music-grade speaker with a collection of nature sounds, lullabies, and audiobooks.
