Mission

Porch Potty was founded in 2008 and is manufactured in Simi Valley, California, just north of Los Angeles. Each Porch Potty is made with care from recycled materials to be eco-friendly. The Porch Potty staff has made it our number one priority to help our customers make the right decision for themselves and their dogs. We understand that despite the unending love they have for their dogs, there are also frustrations that emerge in caring for them. We want to reduce those frustrations as much as possible. We are all dog owners here and are right there with them on this journey.

How It Started, & Where it's going

After months of waking up multiple times a night to take his new puppy out of the building and down three flights of stairs, a sleep deprived Brandon Kennington asked himself, "Why can't I put a patch of grass on my balcony?"

Fifty-three prototypes later, with the help of his faithful canine assistant, Brandon invented the first automated grass litter box for dogs. Brandon's design made it easy for anyone with a dog to have a close and convenient place for their dog to potty, improving the quality of life of dogs and humans around the world.

As popularity spread, stories came flooding in of how Porch Potty has helped thousands of households with frosted faces, mobility limiting injuries (both human and canine), and cramped quarters born out of necessity. This spurred Brandon on to continue improving his designs and invent more products that would give us more time and energy to enjoy our furry family members.

What makes Porch Potty unique?

“We live in an apartment and LOVE the Porch Potty! I taught little Francis how to use it and he was hooked within a day! The Porch Potty is worth it's weight in GOLD, and I'm going to send you a video tomorrow to prove it! Porch Potties are the glue that held this troubled (doggie's) world together!”
