INVICTUS

Taking its name from the Latin word for ‘unconquerable’, the Invictus dining table’s heroic form contrasts rugged planks of mighty oak – one of nature’s strongest and most durable timbers – with a luxuriously thick plane of solid marble. The reclaimed oak is around 100 years old, salvaged from traditional Chinese houses and rife with the character that only weathering and age can bring. Enduring mortise and tenon joinery is used to construct the timeless silhouette, a technique that has been used in woodworking for thousands of years. Playing with texture, vertical lines have been hand chiselled along the entire peripheral edge of the marble, contrasting with the smooth surface of the tabletop for a richly tactile experience. A contemporary take on a classic oak dining table.
