Care

For detailed instructions on spot cleaning, dry cleaning, and machine washing, check out our post, "Cleaning your slipcover."

Spills & Stains

Tread carefully——spot cleaning isn't always recommended, and treatment can vary by fabric, color, and stain type.

Dry Cleaning & Machine Washing

Natural fabrics: We strongly recommend dry cleaning for regular laundering and stain removal. Machine washing is possible with a bit of mindful care.

Upkeep & Maintenance

Natural fabrics: Vacuum regularly [with an upholstery attachment if you have one].

You can read more about day-to-day maintenance in our post, "Getting to know your Sixpenny."

Please note that consistent exposure to direct sunlight can lead to fading or discoloration. You can read more about fabric colorfastness in our post, "Fabric fading 101."

Cushions

Ziki's seat cushion contains three layers: your choice of loose fill [Feather Down or Poly Fill] at the top and bottom, and a cushy "comfort layer" of high-density foam sandwiched between the fill.

Seat Cushion: 60% foam, 40% loose fill

Our lofty Feather Down is ethically sourced, and our vegan Poly Fill is designed to mimic the familiar fluff of feathers. We mix a small percentage of vegan poly fiber into the Feather Down cushions for a bit of spring.

As a rule, the fluffier the cushion, the more upkeep it will require. Our cushions are exceptionally soft, and much of the fill is loose, so periodic fluffing will go a long way.

You can read more about our cushions in Materials & Construction or in our post, "Inside scoop: Feather Down vs Poly Fill."
