Southern California native turned renowned Hawaii resident, Heather Brown seems to be living the life. Seamlessly melding her passion for the beauty of the ocean with her love of beauty of the art world, Brown makes works on canvas and wood panels, but for those of us who like a slightly less traditional medium, she also creates surf boards. If you're in the market for a new piece of art to ride on the waves, check out Sea Siren Surfboard, an original in ever sense of the word
