INSTRUCTION MANUAL

ALLFORM

TIPS & PREPARATION

Your new Allform sofa includes a toolless assembly that can be completed in your home with the included instructions. Before we get started, though, we wanted to share a few key tips and preparation steps that will ensure the easiest possible assembly process.

Grab a friend or family member

While the Allform assembly process is fully toolless, it does include lifting and aligning multiple sofa components. We highly recommend having at least two people present for the entire assembly process.

Know your left from right!

Throughout the assembly process, we will reference the Left and Right Arm Panels as well as directional movements to the left and right. For the entirety of the assembly process, we will be referring to the "left" and "right" from the perspective of standing in front of and facing your sofa.

Don't forget your glossary!

We have included a glossary with these instructions to help you identify every individual component and piece of hardware included with your sofa. If you get stuck or confused at any point during the assembly process, don't forget to reference the glossary to confirm you are working with the correct component.

Open and take inventory of your hardware.

The hardware pack for your sofa will be included in the arm box. We recommend opening the hardware package and laying out each individual part to be sure you have all of the necessary hardware. The checklist included on the outside of your hardware pack includes the exact number of each hardware component you will need.

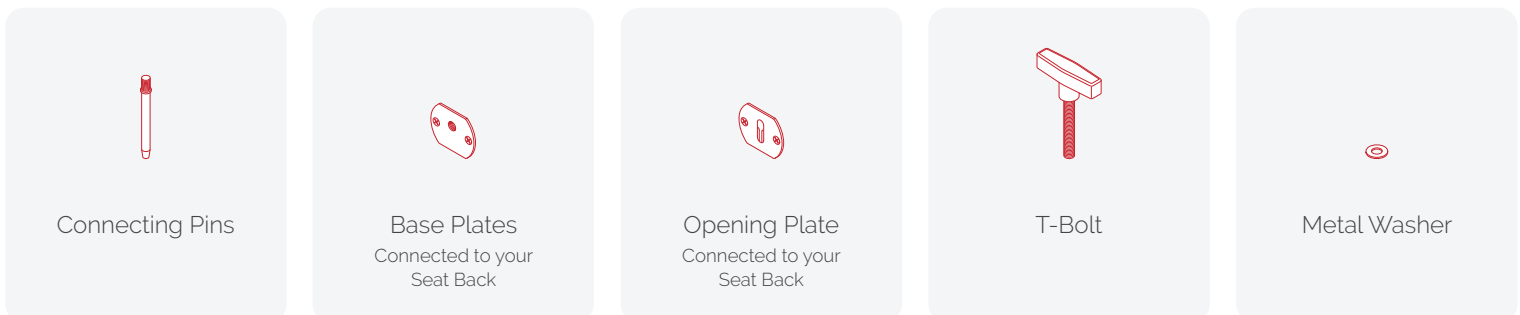

Remove Leg Cap

To protect the metal threading on your sofa's legs, our manufacturer includes a red cap on the end of each leg. Carefully pull or twist the cap off each leg before beginning assembly.

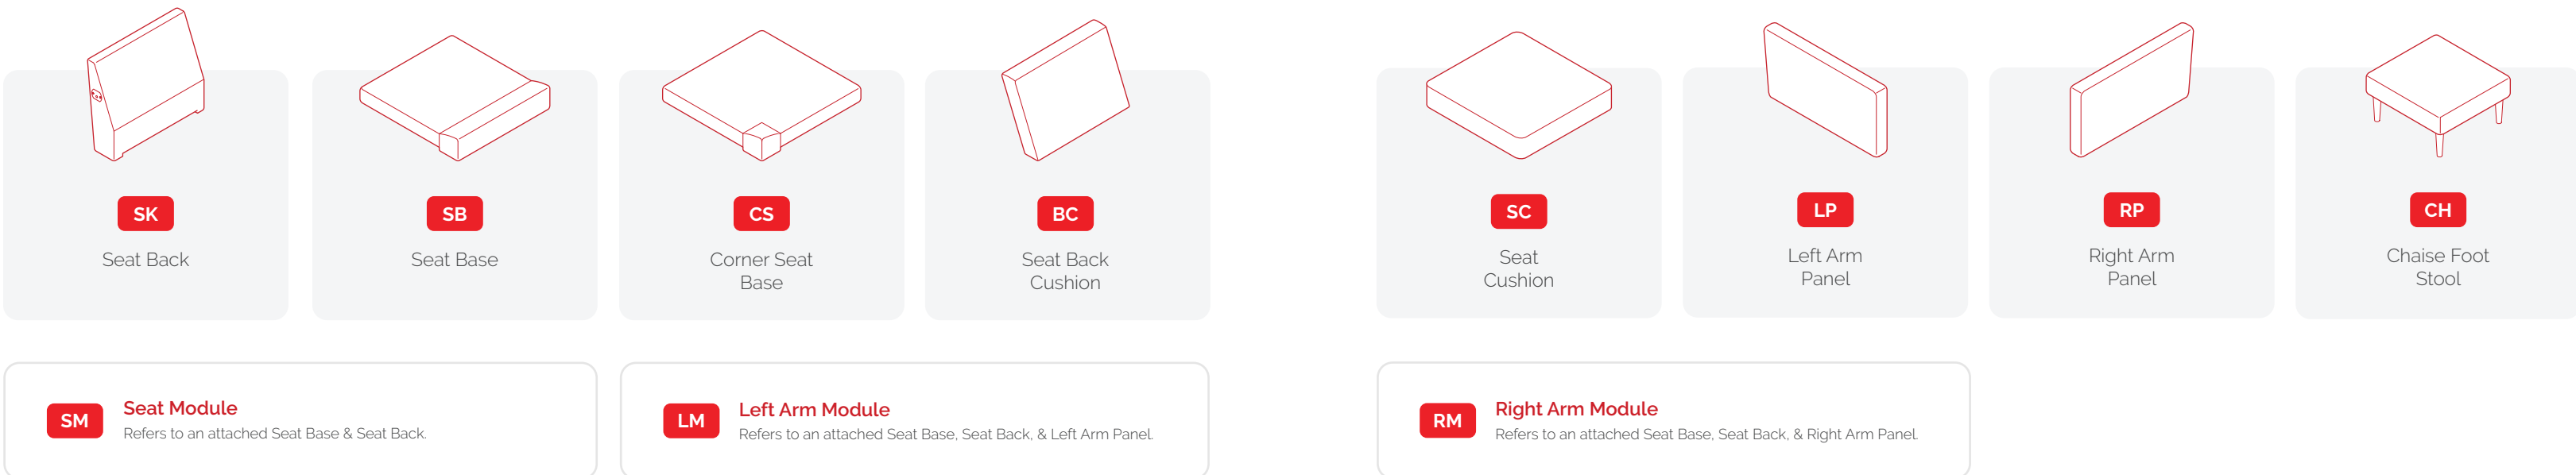

Clear the room!

We highly recommend assembling your sofa in an open room free from any objects, including pets and small children. We also recommend laying down a bed sheet to avoid any debris from gathering on your sofa components while they are being assembled.
