Storage and Handling: Shelf life is dependent on exposure to light/air and general good conditions. Products stored in adverse conditions will deteriorate faster. Products stored in ideal conditions away from light and moisture may last substantially longer. Re-test date reflects absolute minimum period of time that product should remain in good useable condition if stored as recommended. Typical indicators of re-test failure would be changes in organic properties such as clarity, colour, sediment, haze, off odour. Such changes may be gradual and slight.
