Lady Grey: I've been a fan of Lady Grey for a while (and we've covered them a bit on Racked!), but seeing the brand's booth at Woman reminded me of why I like it so much, so I'm including it in this list for that reason. The style really is unlike anything else out there right now. I love funky surrealist jewelry (like these Silhouette Studs) and stuff that's just fun and playful (like these Hand Silk Tassel Earrings). And even though there are so many brands doing gold hoops right now, Lady Grey finds a way to make them really unique — these are so cool.
