PROMOTE GUT WELL-BEING

Maintaining gut balance is vital to overall health, as much of the body's immune system is in your gut lining. Heavily processed foods, GMOs, gluten, and environmental factors such as herbicides and animal antibiotics reduce the healthy bacteria in your digestive tract. These factors can have an impact on the immune system and overall health.

Restore's proprietary lignite extract was developed by a team of world renowned scientists and leading physicians to support the integrity of your intestinal walls. This creates a stable environment where good gut bacteria can grow and thrive, helping you to promote immune system function, and supporting optimal well-being.*

Tight Junctions are gatekeepers between the cells of our mega-membrane, which extends from the nasal cavity to the colon. Tight junction integrity can be impacted by environmental factors such as herbicides. As a result, our immune system can be overwhelmed. Restore can help support and maintain tight junction integrity.*

"We know you are trying your best amidst an exhaustive amount of environmental toxins and stressors. In daily life, making the best choices for your well-being can be overwhelming. We are thrilled to be working in harmony with Nature to develop tools that can make your healthy choices worth it. It's time for you to thrive."
