Talent, passion and a well of bright ideas are the building blocks of great design. Joseph Sidof, CEO of Shakúff Bespoke Lighting Solutions, embodies these attributes, which he brings to his team and to the extraordinary pieces they create every day. "I come from the costume jewelry industry, which is where my love of design began," he says. "Since launching Shakúff in 2007, I have had the pleasure of working side-by-side with my expert teams and our amazing clients while sourcing the very best materials from artisans around the world." All of this has resulted in elegantly innovative custom lighting designs that continue to wow Shakúff's clientele and the industry. When asked what the future holds, Sidof says, "We are developing a collection with technology that will work with smart devices. Pushing the limits of design while staying true to our artistry is what we strive for."
