Product Details

The Bloom Table Lamp's ingenious design consists of glass, metal and white onyx parts. The double glass orb (our Kadur pendant) rests inside a metal half-sphere, which is in turn balanced on another metal half-sphere attached to a round white onyx base. The lamp is connected to the outlet by a fabric cord that also carries the spherical metal switch. The switch was especially engineered to be controlled by touch: through touching it, the lamp can be either turned on or off or even dimmed to the desired brightness.

Another unique feature of this lamp is that both the glass orb and the white onyx base provide light, controlled by the switch at the same time.
