A SELECTION OF CORNISH-MADE HOMEWARES TO HERALD THE ARRIVAL OF SPRING

Compiled by Alice Westgate

spring IS IN THE AIR

Karen King, of The Cornwall Candle Company, has been hand-pouring delicately fragranced candles at her St Austell workshop since 2011. They come in the prettiest of tins, are made from 100% organic soya wax, and have beautifully evocative names such as Ocean Mist, Sea Breeze, Beach Walk and Windswept. Each candle carries the coveted Made in Cornwall logo, too.

Spring Tide candle tin, £8. Call 01726 75984 or visit www.thecornwallcandlecompany.co.uk

SEASIDE stripes

Blue and white stripes adorn Paula Gray's ceramics, which are made in her studio pottery on the Lizard. Paula trained in Staffordshire and hand-throws all her pieces before decorating them in a striped design that is quintessentially Cornish. The range includes vases, bowls, jam pots and mugs – the latter are finished off with a distinctive button on their handle.

Mugs, from around £14.50 each. Call 01326 291071 or visit www.coastlineceramics.co.uk

Also stocked at Halzephron Herb Farm, 21 Arwenack Street, Falmouth, TR11 3JD. Tel 01326 210600

NATURAL selection

Helen Round's studio at Millbrook, in South East Cornwall, overlooks rolling countryside, and these surroundings inspire her to create beautiful drawings that are developed into screen prints. She then transfers these images, by hand, on to a wonderful array of homewares, from cushions and lampshades to tea towels and napkins.

Rame Head hand-printed linen cushion, £50. For more details, call 01752 822817 or visit www.helenround.com
