About Us

I founded Wild Rising Skincare in early 2020 and it has been my life ever since. I handcraft all our products at my home studio in Torquay, Devon. Wild Rising comes from my passion for clean, organic and earth derived ingredients and I see self-care as one of the most important parts of the day.

I see Wild Rising as an extension of myself, a brand that I will use to disrupt outdated ideologies regarding what it means to be a woman, and a brand which promotes empowerment for all. In addition to this message and more importantly, and probably the reason why you're here, all the products are rooted solely from nature, as I believe in the tremendous healing power of plants for the mind, body and skin.
