→ IMMERSE

The AW15 womenswear collection IMMERSE is a bold exploration of the colours, textures and experiences associated with a life spent at sea. Perhaps the most diverse collection to date, IMMERSE shows once again Ræburn's ability to combine creative flare with function and attention to detail. The careful balance between concept and wearability is apparent this season in everything from the iconic outerwear to dresses, separates and accessories.

Building on the reference that emerged in menswear, the life raft provides both fabrication and inspiration for the REMADE aspect of IMMERSE. A stand out cape is constructed from the bright orange panels of the raft, creating a sculptured silhouette and an arresting explosion of colour, completed with a faux fur collar in bottle green. A puffer jacket in the same fluorescent hue features the original reflective panels from the raft. Duffels, anoraks and beautifully tailored pea coats are crafted from original naval blankets and uniforms, highlighting Ræburn's unique ability to deconstruct and re-invent military surplus.

The silhouettes and motifs that typify the REMADE outerwear styles are re-visited in luxury bonded wool, offering a more accessible and elegant interpretation of the seasonal concept but with the same bold design detail. The cape, puffer jacket and pea coat all re-appear in a muted blue that conjures epic seas and imposing skies. In contrast a textured Italian woven wool offers hints of the entire seasonal colour palette; the highly crafted nature of the fabric is cleverly offset by its use in more modern technical outerwear styles, such as the oversized parka.

IMMERSE also sees the application of Ræburn's skill to lightweight outerwear. A black bonded cotton parka features a swirling shark print in silver, whilst a new quilt pattern has been developed and applied to oversized bombers and gilets.

The ongoing partnership with The Woolmark Company has allowed for the development of unique fabrics and new garment categories. Luxury Merino knitwear in particular is fast becoming a key aspect of Ræburn's collections and this season's highly topical mascot the shark, features on blush pink intarsia sweaters and blue jumper dresses.

A unique Japanese wool denim is used to create garments that embody the casual elegance for which Ræburn is becoming known; a neatly fitted dress contrasts the denim with a tactile textured fleece and this eye catching fabric combination can also be seen in a signature Ræburn bomber jacket.

Knee length skirts and a pinafore dress complete the denim category.

Continuing the aquatic theme bubbles form the basis for a darkly sophisticated and yet playful print, seen in silk shirtdresses, oversized bomber jackets and jump suits. These eminently feminine statement pieces provide a wonderful counterpoint to the heavier fabrications used in outerwear and are perfect for layering.

The bubble motif continues in the more sportswear inspired aspects of the collection with photo realistic woven patches developed in partnership with Avery Dennison RBIS applied to casual dresses in premium cotton jersey. The reflective stripes seen on the life raft have also been re-created through the Avery Dennison RBIS partnership using reflective heat transfers, applied to black sweatshirts and joggers, to create styles that literally stand out.

The seasonal look is completed by oversized chunky knit snoods and beanies, playful shark mittens and unique belts created from offcut jersey. These exceptional accessories have been designed in collaboration with Wool and the Gang and perfectly complement the rucksacks, tote bags and of course shark bags that form the core of the Ræburn seasonal accessories offer.
