

Christopher Ræburn's Spring/Summer 2013 women's collection is explorative both in design and appearance, as his innovative approach fuels an evolving narrative for practical and feminine clothing. The offering references the inspiring style and pursuits of the first female aviators, the range developed through extensive research into fabrics old and new. The ready-to-wear offering has also broadened with the addition of light summer staples alongside signature outerwear.

→ REMADE
Christopher's innovative approach is once again skillfully demonstrated in the Remade range. British parachute nylon has been deconstructed and redeveloped into crisp spring garments such as the grosgrain-trimmed translucent Mac Jacket and Shirt Dresses.

The Map offering sees 1950s escape maps re-appropriated into captivating garments including a Playsuit, light Batwing Bomber and Sleeveless Shirt Dress. The intricate print is as interesting to decipher as it is visually impressive.

→ LAMINATED LACE
The brand's trademark outerwear is transformed by a delicate white lace fabric cleverly shielded by a resilient water resistant layer — essential style for a pragmatic experience of the British Summer.

→ QUILTED
Flight takes a militant turn in Quilted. Inspired by European combat pilots, the Coat, Jacket and Bomber are fitted and ribbed, the neat pattern filled using Eco-PrimaLoft, a thermally efficient recycled material. Available in a distinctive colour palette of Black and Taupe.

→ LIGHTWEIGHT
The Lightweight range sees an innovative, almost iridescent, nylon complemented by cotton paneling. The offering includes a Jumpsuit, dresses and jackets, with the Lightweight Mac highlighting the brand's deepening appreciation for ready-to-wear style.

→ SILK JERSEY
A subtle wavelength-inspired pattern is applied across a range of silk jersey evening dresses and tops, the eye drawn across the body by a gradual colour grade.

→ RIPSTOP
Applied to newly developed separates, the Ripstop lace appears as an understated camouflage in an antique white. The range is designed to layer, the new separates including an Oversize T-Shirt, Sleeveless Shirt, Pencil Skirt and Crewneck Top.

→ ACCESSORIES
As with the SS13 men's offering, choice is in abundance, as the offering includes a Rucksack, Roll Top, Shoulder Bag and Mesh Tote. Function is paramount, with compartments, conversion and the use of reclaimed hardware thoughtfully considered. The design combination of water resistant lace with light tan leather stands out across the accessories range.

The accessories offering also welcomes faithful (and playful) partners the Dog, Owl and Hare — each lending their image to a shoulder bag in colourful leathers, again with carefully considered detailing.
