VALKNUT SHIRTS

The Valknut (pronounced: val-knoot) is a symbol in Nordic mythology depicting three interlocked triangles. It is very similar to the Triskele, the Celtic symbol and very much has the power of threes embedded in it.

ODIN

'Valknut' means 'slain warrior knot' and is connected to the cult of the dead. The three triangles of the Valknut are often seen on gravestones and runestones, and usually found alongside Odin or the symbol of Odin. This is why the Valknut is associated with Odin.

Odin is the god of wisdom and the dead. He had the ability to control people's minds. Which is why some people use the Valknut as a symbol of binding and unbinding magic.

SYMBOLISM

The Valknut is also believed to be a symbol of the sun, the afterlife, and reincarnation.

It is clear that the Valknut can be used for so many things. Witches use the Valknut as a symbol of magical protection. Wearing it, you are protected by the power of Odin.

ASATRU

The Valknut is also a symbol of Asatru, the goal of which is to live a worthwhile life. There are followers of the Asatru who believe in not giving in to a modern sense of morality. Their values are based on Nine Noble Virtues: truth, courage, discipline, honor, fidelity, hospitality, perseverance, industriousness, and self-reliance.

YOU AND THE VALKNUT

Take the valknut as you will and use it to protect your mind and body, and use it to help your spirit remain on the right path according to the Nine Noble Virtues.

Nowadays, it is getting easier you stray from what is right, which is why you should make use of the symbols the ancients have used themselves.

The ancient Nordic shamans left us the Valknut as a symbol of their magic. The Valknut is a reminder of their power and our power to control our actions and get back on the right path.

I WAS BORN TO BE A WARRIOR CLOTHING

This shirt is for everyone who lives a life of honour, courage and self reliance.

On the back, it shows the Walknut surrounded by a powerful poem:

"I was born to be a warrior. I do not kneel for anyone. I do not beg my gods for help, I ask them to empower me, so I can help myself. I don't need nor ask the Gods for forgiveness. I was not born into sin. I was born to be a warrior."

Not everyone can wear this, but those who can will bear it with pride and honour.

NEITHER BOUND BY TRADITION NOR DECREE

Every now and then, a necklace comes around which perfectly captures what it's like to be an eclectic Wiccan.

What does being a Wiccan mean to you?

Are you dictated by laws on how to act or are you completely free?

Does being free mean doing whatever you want without fear of consequences?

The neither bound by tradition nor decree necklace captures what it's like to be an eclectic Wiccan. You are not bound by tradition and decree, and yet you are not getting by directionless.

An eclectic Wiccan is bound by a strong moral code and personal responsibility for his or her actions.

You will not find a Wiccan blaming something or someone else for his or her actions - knowing the big responsibility that comes with every action, an eclectic Wiccan will think before speaking, act respectfully, be considerate, and have a peaceful mind.

An eclectic Wiccan believes that what makes you a Wiccan are your actions. Are you honoring Nature? Are you acting from the goodness of your heart? Are you acting in ways that will make the Mother Goddess proud?

The necklace features an image of the Mother Goddess in the center and a pentacle on either side. It also doubles as a protective shield since pentacles banish negative energy and keep it away.

This necklace has a youthful design and is perfect for a witch just starting out. A teen witch would love this. The design makes it perfectly relatable to younger witches.

This is a unique necklace with our very own design so you won't find it anywhere else. The pendant measures approximately 1x1 inch across, which makes it the perfect size for a piece of meaningful and very personal jewelry. It is not loud and attention-grabbing.

The neither bound by tradition nor decree makes you proud to be a respectful, peace-loving, kind-hearted, and responsible Wiccan.
