Oggetti, ceramiche

Tied up with a fabric strap, these cutting boards look like a pile of books, even with KN titles printed on their spines. They come in three types of wood – Cassero walnut, oak and ash – to distinguish their different uses, and when not in use, are also an attractive decorative item. BB OGGETTI D'ARTE, *Il linguaggio segreto dei fiori, design Benedetta Brachetti Peretti Forse più famosa all'estero che in Italia, la designer ha fatto del vetro di Murano il suo materiale prediletto, progettando vasi, bicchieri, photophore. La tecnica qui utilizzata è la lavorazione a rilievo, che consiste nella creazione di segni e ombre scolpiti con la silice. Perhaps better known abroad than in Italy, the designer has made Murano glass her material of choice, designing vases, drinking glasses and photophores. Here she uses the relief work technique, which consists in the creation of shadows and other designs sculpted with silica. www.bboggettidarte.com
